Paraguayans Reported to Be Winning on All Fronts as Bolivian Organization Is Demoralized by Sensational Change in Presidency—Details Obscured by Censorship

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 29 (AP).—With the Bolivian Government's policies in doubt following a sensational change in the presidency, the populace of Paraguay, tonight, celebrated reports of complete demoralization of Bolivia's military resistance in the two-and-one-half-year-old Chaco war.

Censorship in La Paz still obscured the circumstances of President Daniel Salamanca's sudden resignation and the attitude of the Cabinet toward Vice-President Jose Luis Tejada Sorzano, who took over the office.

ENGAGED IN MASS BUYING

Witness at Inquiry Admits Former Association With Group Purchasing Body

OTTAWA, Nov. 29 (CP).—Joseph Crowder, of Toronto, retail investigator for the Parliamentary Mass Buying Commission, whose report played chain and department stores for mass buying and its inevitable results, once was vice-president of a company formed to promote mass buying. Peter White, counsel for Loblaw Groceries Limited, brought out the evidence, today, at the commission's inquiry.

CELEBRATING VICTORY

(AP).—Reports that Bolivian troops were retreating along all fronts in the Chaco, brought thousands of Paraguayans into the streets tonight, celebrating what they believed was the beginning of the end of the long war.

The reports were posted on bulletin boards to the accompaniment of shrieking whistles, screaming sirens and the explosion of giant firecrackers.

POLICY ONE OF NO AGGRESSION

Foreign Minister Hirota Pictures Japan as Champion of World Peace

TOKIO, Nov. 30 (AP).—Japanese insistence upon abolition of the principle in naval armaments was declared by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, today, to be in accordance with a "principle" of non-aggression and non-aggression.

Picturing Japan as the champion of this principle, he told the House of Peers, in extra-session, that the empire is actuated by "the spirit of disarmament."

Called upon to tell his compatriots how the empire has fared with the rest of the world, Hirota side-stepped the most troublesome developments since his last formal report to Parliament, January 23. He did not include in his report Japan's preparation to abrogate the Washington Naval Treaty, but declared the Japanese are continuing efforts in London for a "new and reasonable treaty."

He did not touch upon the prospect of a breakdown in the parleys or the dangers of a naval race, which is the major anxiety of the moderate elements of Japan.

Saying "a better understanding prevails among the powers concerning Japan's position in Eastern Asia," the Foreign Minister ignored the current heated diplomatic conflict with Great Britain and the United States over Manchurian oil plans, and Japan's alleged violation of the "open door."

Ulm and Two Companions Land Ocean Plane at Oakland From Los Angeles

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 29 (AP).—Captain Charles Ulm washed and shined his plane Star of Australia, here, today, in readiness for a hop tomorrow morning to Vancouver, and thence across the Pacific to Australia.

Ulm set his plane down at the airport this morning, after starting at Los Angeles at sunrise on the last leg of a Montreal-Vancouver journey.

With Ulm were G. M. Littlejohn, co-pilot, and J. A. Skilling, navigator, and radio operator. Ulm, managing director of the Great Pacific Airways, plans to chart a commercial Canada-Australia course. The exact date of his take-off will depend on weather conditions.

Quarter Century on Bench

HON. J. A. MACDONALD, Chief Justice of British Columbia
On November 30, 1909, Chief Justice Macdonald received his appointment to the newly created Court of Appeal of this province. He was named as head of this court, over which he has been the presiding judge ever since. The first sitting of the Court of Appeal followed on January 4, 1910. On the death of Hon. Gordon Hunter, Chief Justice of British Columbia, the present head of the judiciary of the province succeeded to that title. The Chief Justice, who is enjoying excellent health, will be the recipient of many congratulations upon the attaining of his quarter century upon the bench.

London Is Joyful As Wedlock Joins Prince and Bride

Gorgeous Pageantry Unites With Traditional Solemnity When His Majesty's Youngest Son Marries Princess Marina of Greece in Double Ceremony at Abbey and Royal Palace

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 29.—In the grandest, most gorgeous show London has seen in many years, beautiful Princess Marina of Greece, today, became the bride of the Duke of Kent, youngest son of the King and Queen.

A half-million persons roared cheer after cheer as the young couple, parading in glittering processions from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey and back, were joined in matrimony.

It was London's biggest social event since, perhaps, the coronation of King George twenty-five years ago, and Londoners, their numbers swelled by thousands from the provinces, made the most of it.

CARNIVAL REIGNS
Tonight the mood of merry-making still held the Metropolis, and the spirit of carnival reigned at all London's places of amusement as the royal honeymooners sought seclusion at the Earl of Dudley's country home, Himley Hall.

BRITAIN ALONE ABLE TO SAVE

French Deputy Says Germany Undoubtedly Preparing for Revengeful War

PARIS, Nov. 29 (AP).—Great Britain was described today as the only nation able to save France from war, by Adrian Darcie, in his report on the foreign affairs budget.

The deputy disagreed with the recent valuation of Russia's military aid in case of war with Germany, as expressed by Leon Archimbaud, reporter of the budget.

Darcie said the Soviet Government's lack of adequate transportation facilities and its general economic condition precluded the possibility of any effective troop movement in an emergency.

The report was made on the eve of its discussion in the Chamber, when Foreign Minister Pierre Laval will explain the Government's plans and policies.

DEFENSIVE ALLIANCE
"It would be superfluous to state again," Darcie wrote, "that the acts of the German Government prove its firm resolve, despite threats, to rearm and prepare for war and revenge."

"The sole assured guarantee," he continued, "would be a Franco-British defensive alliance."

Darcie stressed the danger of a surprise attack by Germany through Switzerland. He said that Germany already has established a "sports" camp at Tubingen, near the Swiss border, where university students are taught to drive motorized equipment in military formation.

MINING MEN OPTIMISTIC

District Engineers Predict Greater Activity Next Year in Gold Search

VANCOUVER, Nov. 29 (CP).—Optimistic reports, indicating that mining activity in British Columbia will be greater next year than this, were given today by resident engineers, to the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

During the past season, activity has been marked in every section of the province where gold is found. Some activity is noted in silver mining, but this is more in the nature of exploration and preparation for the future. No immediate hopes are held out for revival in the mining of base metals.

HAS HUGE TERRITORY

Douglas Lay, resident engineer of the Northeastern district, described his investigation and examinations in his territory, which embraces approximately 100,000 square miles, including the Cariboo and Omineca sections.

"The past season witnessed real progress in both lode and placer mining," he said. "A substantial increase in gold production was made. Some attention was also paid to silver mining in my district."

PERMANENCY INDICATED

Mr. Lay told of the encouraging results obtained at the Cariboo Gold Quartz and Newmont operations in the Cariboo. Developments at the Cariboo Gold Quartz contributed to the general geological information of the area, and Mr. Lay stated, these indicate the permanency of the ore bodies.

Operations in other portions of Cariboo district also give promise of development of mines.

IS GIVEN GRANT FOR LIBRARIES

Carnegie Donation of $15,000 to Assist in Spreading Work in Province

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 29 (CP).—The Carnegie Corporation of America has made a supplementary grant of $15,000 to the British Columbia Library Commission to assist in organizing libraries in various parts of the province, similar to those organized in the Fraser Valley during the past four years, it was announced here, tonight.

H. Norman Lidster, chairman of the commission, made the announcement.

The supplementary grant has been made, the chairman said, to make available to other communities in the province the conclusions and valuable experience gained from practical demonstration in the Fraser Valley.

UNDER USUAL POLICY

The grant was made under the policy of the Carnegie Corporation to assist in establishing community libraries by pooling resources and co-operation, as preferable to the municipal library.

The British Columbia Commission was given a grant of $100,000 five years ago by the Carnegie Corporation. Mr. Lidster stated, that money had been expended, but it was thought desirable that the valuable experience gained be passed on to other districts of the province. Accordingly an application for a supplementary grant was made to the corporation, which has been granted.

Bombings Renewed In Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 29 (AP).—Violence flashed anew in the Salt River Valley anti-alien land fight near here to send officers today into the various areas to investigate night riding activities.

Two bombs were hurled during the night at farms occupied by Japanese.

Authorities attributed the latest flare-ups to the perpetrators of five other bombings, which have terrorized Japanese in recent weeks. These have been followed by a number of court injunctions restraining Japanese from cultivating and owning lands.

Typhoon's Vortex Hundred Miles South of Manila—Worst of Years

MANILA, Nov. 30 (AP).—A Red Cross relief party left here early today for Leyte Province, centre of devastation wrought by a typhoon which cut through the East Central Philippines yesterday. Reports from Leyte described the storm as one of the most violent in that region in many years.

At 6 a.m. today, the vortex of the typhoon was reported on the island of Mindoro, probably 100 miles south of Manila. The weather bureau said that winds of 125 miles an hour velocity were reported in Leyte, and added that the extent of destruction would depend on the nature of the areas affected.

ENORMOUS DAMAGE

Vincent de la Cruz, governor of Leyte, reported high winds in his province. The area reported enormous damage and probable loss of life. The governor estimated that the loss in Leyte would be $500,000.

Apparently the storm was the most violent of the four that have visited that general area in the last six weeks. The last previous typhoon, on November 15, killed about 140 persons and caused widespread destruction in provinces just north of Leyte. At that time, the wind velocity reached eighty miles an hour.

Market Regulation Squarely on Horns Of Dilemma in B.C.

Present Degree of Provincial Regulation Recognized as Useless—Complete Control of Goods and Price-Fixing Desperate Alternatives

BRITISH Columbia marketing regulations was at the crossroads, yesterday, between survival or extinction, with tremendous implications to producers of all natural products. Unregulated products from unregulated areas hang like a knife over every marketing scheme so far ratified or even under consideration, with power to break every provincial plan so far fabricated for marketing control. Complete regulation, on the other hand, means absolute monopoly. The British Columbia ministry admitted itself in a quandary, with necessity in the saddle and forcing the pace.

The case was plainly stated by Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, who, as head of the whole marketing system, was most concerned.

"Fraser Valley milk producers have a market scheme, but the rest of the province has none. Mainland potato-growers want restricted marketing, but Ashcroft growers do not. British Columbia field tomato growers want regulation, but Eastern Canadian canners can dump Ontario and Quebec tomatoes into British Columbia, via the Panama, at less than the cost of British Columbia production. Sheep raisers want a controlled field, but Alberta can ship mutton and sheep by the carload into British Columbia over and beyond any normal necessary supply," Dr. MacDonald pointed out.

"If producers, either within or

Two Guards and Two Prisoners Injured in Desperate Battle at Ontario Reformatory—Sergeant Fires at Attackers After Pleading for Order—One Drops, Others Continue to Fight

No Time Lost in Opening Inquiry Into Fatal Trouble

TORONTO, Nov. 29 (CP).—Fred Ertal, thirty-five, was shot to death when he attempted to escape from the brick and tile plant of the Ontario Reformatory, Etobicoke Township, tonight. With three companions, Ertal attempted to flee but the four men were met in the reception room of the institution and were overpowered after a fifteen-minute battle. During the fight Sergeant Campbell and George Jamieson, guard, were seriously injured, suffering severe head wounds.

Stores of Dynamite Destroyed

SEATTLE, Nov. 29 (AP).—A mysterious, terrific explosion, today, destroyed the powder houses at the McKay mine of the Continental Coal Company, near Ravensdale. No one was injured.

J. I. Stringer, manager, said the mine itself was not damaged. King County detective Carl Peterson, who was on duty at the mine, said the blast was intentional. But Stringer said the company was having no labor trouble, and he could not assign a possible motive.

Sergeant Moran, another reformatory official, came to the help of the guards, and Ertal was shot when a revolver was brought into play. Sergeant Moran was unhurt.

The attempted break occurred about 8:30 o'clock, and at midnight C. F. Neeland, deputy provincial secretary, arrived at the institution and started an inquiry. The reception-room was wrecked during the struggle and on the floor was the body of Ertal, with blood spreading over the flooring from a wound in his chest.

UNDER HEAVY GUARD

One of Ertal's companions, his head battered, could be heard groaning as he lay on his cot in the dormitory corridor, from which the prisoners rushed in the vain attempt for freedom. Two heavily armed guards were posted over the injured prisoner.

Late tonight, authorities gave the names of the men who accompanied Ertal on the break as George King, W. Chard and J. Besservatwe. Ertal's three associates were awaiting transfer to Burnsway Penitentiary, it was believed.

It was the second attempt at freedom for Ertal. Last Summer, he slipped from the institution in a tarpaulin-covered garbage wagon, but was caught within a few days.

GUARD KNOCKED DOWN

The four men tonight were reported to have attacked the dormitory guard, knocking him down with a chair leg, and heading for

Duke and Duchess of Kent Find Quiet and Calm at Himley Hall

DUDLEY, Worcestershire, Nov. 29 (AP).—Their exciting wedding day over, the Duke and Duchess of Kent found quiet and calm at Himley Hall, their honeymoon retreat, this evening.

Cheered all along the route of their special train, King George's youngest son and his bride, Princess Marina of Greece, were greeted only by servants when their automobile rolled up in front of the country home of the Earl of Dudley.

DO THE HONORS

The housekeeper and the butler did the honors, ushering them into the flower-banked interior. They dined alone, later, inspecting the apartment prepared for them, and the squash racquets court, converted into a miniature cinema, where they will see moving pictures of their wedding.

Huge throngs greeted the couple's passage through the English countryside and thousands gathered at Dudley, the last town through which they passed before reaching the hall, to applaud the newly-weds.

The first part of the honeymoon will be spent there. They probably will join the King and Queen, at Sandringham for the Christmas season and then complete their honeymoon on the Continent.

CONSERVATIVES RETAIN PUTNEY

Marcus Samuel Defeats Dr. Edith Summerskill, Labor—Majority for Party Greatly Reduced

LONDON, Nov. 29 (CP).—A drastic drop in the Conservative majority was recorded, today, when the Conservatives retained Putney in parliamentary by-election. Marcus Samuel, Conservative candidate, was elected, yesterday, with a majority of only 2,663 over Dr. Edith Summerskill, Labor candidate. In the last general elections the Conservatives had a majority of 21,146 in a straight fight with Labor.

The by-election, necessitated by the death of Samuel Samuel, member for Putney ever since 1918, resulted in a vote of 15,599 for the Conservative and 12,936 for Labor.

DEVASTATION

The centre of the storm seemed to be passing to the south of Manila, but warning signals were displayed in the city as a matter of precaution.

FREIGHTER SAFE

The American freighter New York, with forty men aboard, was caught in the teeth of the storm off San Bernardino Strait at the south-eastern end of Luzon Island, upon which Manila is situated. She fought her way out safely, however, after a hard struggle.

The typhoon of October 16 registered a wind velocity of fifty-seven miles an hour, lashing the city of Manila. Succeeding storms spared the city.

Estimates of deaths in the various storms were as follows:

September 6, two; September 30, thirty-nine; October 16, eighty; October 20, twelve; November 14, 150. The total of 283 was believed to be ultra-conservative, as many deaths were believed to have been unreported here from outlying areas.

united the pair whose romance, born at the country estate of Prince Paul of Yugoslavia in the beautiful Slovenian Alps, thrilled rich and poor alike.

IN ANCIENT ABBEY

Beneath the high windows and the roomy arches of the Abbey, where sleep the Empire's great, the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina spoke their vows before the Archbishop of Canterbury while the most imposing gathering in many years, its splendor shining softly under candlelight, watched in impressive silence.

The second service was the 1,100-year-old rites of the Greek Orthodox Church, solemnized in the white and gold private chapel of Buckingham Palace before members of the couple's immediate families.

Thousands stayed up all night to be on hand to witness the start of the day's pagantry and ceremonial, the three processions which took the King and Queen, the bride and groom, and the royal guests to the Abbey.

Thousands of others arose before daylight to make their way in the murky dawn to the streets along which the processions passed.

Smiling and waving, the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina drove to the Abbey for the first ceremony. While kings and queens, dukes and duchesses, lords and ladies, diplomats and other distinguished persons listened, the light of tapers glinting back from elaborate uniforms, handsome dresses and brilliant jewels and decorations, the resonant voice of the white-haired Archbishop of Canterbury rang under the domes of the vaulted Abbey as he led the couple through the solemn lines of the beautiful English marriage service.

AT THE ALTAR

A choir of seventy voices chanted melodious "Amen" to two prayers that followed, after which the couple moved slowly to the altar, decorated with costly golden plates and altar pieces, there kneeling again as the Prelator of the Abbey Choir chanted responses, followed by the Lord's Prayer, in which many of the congregation joined.

The Archbishop of Canterbury in addressing the newly-married Duke and Duchess of Kent said: "Never in history, we may dare to say, has a marriage been attended by so vast a company of witnesses. For by a new and marvelous invention of science, countless multitudes in every variety of place and home joining in this service."

"The whole nation—nay the whole Empire, are wedding guests—we wish you happiness, but our wishes cannot give it. Nor can it come from outward circumstances. It can only come from yourselves, from the spirit that is within you."

"You cannot choose what changes and chances are to befall you in coming years. But you can choose the spirit with which you meet them. Let it be the spirit of the noble vows in which you just pledged your troth each to the other."

"Today your separate lives—with their own memories, hopes, temptations and trials—are merged in one. Will you bring into this new life, each for the sake of the other, the best that you can be."

"Let your deepest bond of union be in that in the region of the soul where conscience and true ideals dwell, for there come near to God and God comes near to you."

"Keep there the reverend remembrance of Him. Then His protecting hand will guide you, and by His eternal love the love you bear each other will be ever strengthened and enriched."

"I am sure that that heart is now speaking through my words as I say 'God bless you both. God guide you, God keep you always.'"

GOOD-HUMORED CROWD

By 8 a.m. all choice points of vantage along the whole route from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey were taken up with a good-humored crowd, held back by phalanxes of blue-uniformed policemen.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the first privileged guests arrived at the abbey in formal evening dress and uniforms.

Every window giving a possible glimpse of the abbey was crowded hours before the ceremony and spectators clambered up roofs among the chimneys.

Below them hard-listed "navvies" and fur-coated women stood shoulder to shoulder. Some held periscopes while others were prepared to use the mirror in their vanity cases to enable them to get a re-flected view over craning heads.

Lusty cheers were given the Lord Mayor, richly robed, when he arrived by coach, followed by other dignitaries of the city.

As the time approached for the three Royal processions to leave Buckingham and St. James' Palaces for the abbey, the skies were clearer, but still leaden.

THE ROYAL PROCESSION

King George and Queen Mary headed the Royal procession from Buckingham Palace en route to the abbey, departing at 10:36 a.m. right on schedule.

The stream of cars to the abbey stopped as if by magic at 10:15 a.m. when the last guest, except for the Royal suites, arrived.

As the King and Queen left Buckingham Palace in a glass coach, drawn by bay horses, they were followed by coaches bearing the kings and queens or Norway and Denmark, former King George of Greece, Prince Paul of Yugoslavia and Princess Nicholas of Greece, the bride's mother.

The Duke of Kent, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, left St. James Palace for the abbey at 10:44—and the programme was moving with clock-like precision.

Thunderous cheers greeted King George and Queen Mary as the Royal procession moved slowly along the packed route over sand-covered streets.

Likewise, the procession of the Duke of Kent from St. James was a passage through aisles of cheering people. He entered the abbey at 10:56.

A HAPPY BRIDE

The Princess appeared to be a happy and blushing bride as she left Buckingham Palace with her hand clasped in her father's. She wore an ermine cloak over her silver wedding dress with a diamond tiara in her hair. Nicholas was bare-headed and attired in a dark-blue uniform.

The Duke and the new Duchess left the Abbey at 11:50 a.m. Followed by the bridesmaids they came out of the west door to the accompaniment of the Wedding March.

Bells of the historic Abbey clanged from its towers in a peal of 5,040 changes, which took three hours and twenty minutes to ring.

As the bells of the Abbey began to peal the wedding party formed up again and drove back to Buckingham Palace for the second ceremony of the day, a Greek Orthodox marriage in the private chapel there.

THE GREEK CEREMONY

Archbishop Stringfellow, of the Greek church in London, officiated at the second ceremony, performed in a setting of regal splendor in the private chapel of the London home of the King and Queen, shortly after noon.

The scent of incense filled the chapel as the guests, including the members of the immediate families, watched the couple go through the rites of this centuries-old ceremony.

The archbishop, who had attended the Abbey ceremony, wore his magnificent robes set off by a heavy chain supporting his massive emblem of office around his neck and topped by his black-velvet headpiece.

The Duke and the bride entered the richly decorated chapel bearing lighted tapers and were escorted to a table in the middle of the room where the archbishop awaited them.

The archbishop, a picturesque figure with a white beard, in the ceremony of the blessing the rings first took them and handed one to the bridegroom, saying:

"Thy servant of God, the Duke of Kent, is betrothed to the servant of God, Princess Marina, in the name of God, the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, amen."

With the ring he made the sign of the cross over the head of the bridegroom, and then, with the second ring, went through the same ritual over the head of the bride.

The words of betrothal pronounced three times to both the Duke and his bride, the archbishop then placed the rings on the third finger of the right hand of each.

Prayers and a blessing completed this section of the ceremony, which in all required nearly an hour.

OFFICE OF CROWNING

The final section, the "office of the crowning," was considerably longer than the first.

Both the Duke and his bride were crowned three times by the archbishop as he repeated words similar to those of the betrothal ritual. As this was completed the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, acting as supporters, took places behind the bride and groom.

The Duke and the Duchess were then crowned with crowns three times. This was accompanied by Benediction.

Next followed the ceremony of the drinking of the wine. The archbishop first taking the cup and the red wine within, blessed it, then passed it first to the bridegroom and then to the bride, who in turn drank of it.

One more ceremony completed the ritual. Escort by two priests and accompanied by the Royal brothers, the Duke and his bride circled about the table while the choir, unaccompanied by musical instruments, chanted hymns.

The procession wound up in front of the table where the archbishop, wearing his magnificent robes, delivered the final blessing and ended with a special prayer.

This was the first time the Greek church ceremony has been performed for any member of the Royal household upon British soil.

Immediately afterwards the wedding party proceeded to the State dining-room where the wedding breakfast was served to 120 guests.

Five wedding cakes, parts of which were cut for delivery to children in hospitals, were the centre of attraction at the breakfast. The three Kings and three Queens of Great Britain, Norway and Denmark, sat at the head table.

ON GOLD PLATE
The Royal collection of gold plate was used at each table in the room. When the meal was concluded, King George proposed the toast to the health of the bride and bridegroom; meanwhile, the Royal servants drank the health of the Duke and Duchess in champagne given by the King.

After the breakfast, the Duke and Duchess together made the first cut in the nine-foot-high wedding cake, using the Duke's sword. Pieces of the cake were distributed among the guests.

This was the first time during the day's prolonged ceremonial in which the Duke and Princess had a moment of relaxation.

They left the Palace for Paddington Railway Station at 4:10 p.m. while great crowds lined the way to cheer them.

As they left the Palace they were pelted with miniature silver shoes, tiny horseshoes, ribbons tied in true-lovers' knots and rose petals by the Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York.

The Duke and Princess rode in an open carriage drawn by four Windsor Greys. The bare-headed Duke and the smiling girl beside him were greeted with wild cheering. They waved their hands gaily in response.

The Duke had changed from his uniform to a brown suit and the Duchess was wearing an almond-tinted going-away costume. It was trimmed with fur at the collar and cuffs. Her hat matched the rest of the outfit.

Says B.C. Lumber Popular in Home Building Scheme

British Columbia lumber is being used extensively in building schemes now being carried out in England, states P. Leonard James, Victoria architect, who recently returned from a fifteen months' visit to Europe.

Wooden and frame constructed dwellings are becoming more and more popular with English home owners, he declared.

It has been given British Columbia lumber a big trade with the United Kingdom, he continued.

He declared that the new German style of architecture was finding expression in London. Much publicity has been given British Columbia lumber, and he looked for a big trade with the United Kingdom, he continued.

EVERY COLD START
you can SAVE UP TO A CUPFUL of GASOLINE!

Thermalized Super-SHELL

—made far more concentrated—delivers full power before your engine is even warmed up. Increases your winter mileage surprisingly

Watch your choke. It uses up five times the normal amount of gasoline. Robs you of money every winter day you drive.

Thermalized gasoline makes it possible to use the choke only half as long. A clear saving of as much as a cupful of gasoline on each cold start.

How? Thermalized Super-SHELL vaporizes faster. So much faster, you get full power while your engine is still cold.

You notice an immediate difference. Your motor starts easier. And without that maddening, sputtery get-away you've known with ordinary winter fuels.

Super-SHELL isn't made the ordinary way. It is extra-refined—subjected to terrific heat and pressure. Super-SHELL is actually made far more concentrated.

And the Thermalizing method is adjusted for each locality. No matter where you buy Super-SHELL, you get a perfect fuel for prevailing temperatures.

Try a tankful—get the feel of its Thermalized power. You'll never go back to common winter gasolines.

HORSES GET FEED UNDER OLD WILL

Qualit Quebec Custom Has Continued for Twenty Years on All Saints' Day

ST. GENEVIEVE, Que., Nov. 29.—There should be no hungry horses around St. Genevieve on All Saints' Day. If there are, it's only because the farmers have not heard of one of the stipulations of the will of J. A. Charest, one-time member of the Quebec Legislature for Jacques Cartier and former legislative councillor for Rigaud.

Every year on the feast day, farmers drive into town from the surrounding district, attend Mass and then stay over to attend evening services. During the long wait the horses naturally grow hungry. Mr. Charest knew this, and when he died, more than twenty years ago, he left $500 for the specific purpose of feeding the horses on such an occasion. The interest on the sum is sufficient to have his wishes carried out each year.

Today, most of the farmers drive into town in their automobiles. But the few who still hitch up the old grey mare when they want to attend Mass need not worry about feeding Dobbin.

more and more discounts and allowances in order to compete among themselves. This inevitably resulted in a ruinous price competition, with manufacturers forced to accept less and less for their goods and finally resorting to wage-cutting.

HOPING FOR ACTION

"Manufacturers and distributors alike have stated to me," Crowder told the commission, "they earnestly hope the Government will take a definite interest in domestic trade and establish such machinery as would assist business to remove some of the abuses that have crept into merchandising in recent years."

The executives of some Canadian chains also told him they would like to see certain conditions, wages, hours of labor and multiple discounts, cleared up, but each pointed out that he was helpless to make a start.

WAGE AVERAGES GIVEN

The Whitley report was based on 300 questionnaires sent out by the Bureau of Statistics to grocery and drug stores in Ontario. It gave an average of $17.82 a week for clerks; $23.37 for butchers; $15.94 for drivers, and $9.26 for delivery boys. The average wage for women clerks was $11.82.

In Ontario drug stores covered by the survey, an average wage of $21.94 was paid druggists and $10.33

COUNSEL TO HELP INQUIRY

B.C. Fuel Investigation Seen as Outgrowth of Stalemate in Prior Studies

Having announced immediate appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate costs and profits in British Columbia coal and oil industries, the Provincial Government was studying yesterday the question of counsel to marshal evidence on oath before the commission, Hon. M. A. Macdonald. It is expected that the choice of a barrister to assist the commission will be made in the next few days. The actual inquiry may take several months.

Back of the formal announcement it developed that the suggestion to remove an economic study of British Columbia fuel requirements from the British Columbia Economic Council and to place it in the hands of a Royal Commission, with power to demand evidence under oath, was advanced through the Ministry of Mines.

Hon. G. S. Pearson prepared the initial draft of the order, though he was out of the city when the Cabinet acted on his recommendation, and set up the commission.

WANT THE FACTS

A Government spokesman reiterated yesterday that the inquiry was a fact-finding mission. "If the coal industry in British Columbia is worth saving, let us know it. If gasoline is selling too high, let us know it. We want the facts," he commented.

Much pressure had been brought to bear on the Government by coal interests to place an additional tax on fuel oil, the same source disclosed. The Province, it was explained, was not ready to take any action in the matter without further study of all angles of the fuel business.

The representations, advanced in part through the Economic Council, set out that British Columbia coal production had shrunk by half since 1920, with 900,000 tons annually displaced by petroleum products. Payrolls and miners employed lessened in proportion.

Counter representations set out that coal and oil had separate fields, and that nothing could ultimately retard the advance of new methods in industrial undertakings.

"DEBATING SOCIETY"

Between two groups of students, a debating society was organized yesterday to discuss the question of the coal industry in British Columbia.

Caustic ministerial reference to the council as a "debating society" put a new complexion on the case yesterday, and may explain why a separate fact-finding inquiry has been ordered.

Hon. G. S. Pearson and Hon. Gordon Sloane, K.C., conferred yesterday.

MAKES PLEA FOR BLIND PERSONS

Major Harry Watts Pays Visit to Rotary Club and Is Given Warm Reception

MAJOR HARRY WATTS

Members of the Victoria Rotary Club had a pleasant surprise yesterday when a visit to the luncheon meeting by Major Harry Watts, formerly identified with the local organization, but now living in Calgary. The welcome visitor was called upon for an address and as honorary field secretary for British Columbia and Alberta of the Institute for the Blind, he told of the great work that was being done for those who were unfortunate enough to lose their sight.

Major Watts said that Canada treated her blind as well as any part of the world. The blind in Canada were not asking for charity, except in the cases where the afflicted were not able to work. They were asking a chance to make a living and this they were doing.

He called upon local people to visit and inspect the display of the work of the blind that would be held here shortly.

TRIBUTE IS PAID J. KEITH WILSON

Funeral Service Held for Pioneer Resident—Profusion of Flowers Testify to Esteem

A group of pioneers and a wide circle of intimate friends paid tribute to the memory of J. Keith Wilson, whose funeral service was held yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. S. Patterson conducted the rites.

As the casket was wheeled to the front of the chapel, the organist played an improvisation on the theme "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears."

Mr. Patterson read from the Scripture the Fifteenth Chapter of the First Corinthians, beginning at the twelfth verse. He also read the Ninetieth Psalm. The congregation sang "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages." At the close of the service the organist played "O Rest in the Lord."

Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery, in the family plot. Mr. Patterson conducted the graveside service. A profusion of flowers, laid on the grave, testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his many friends. The pallbearers were C. C. Pemberton, C. K. Courtney, Dr. H. McKewen, H. A. Youldal, Llewellyn Thomas and L. S. V. York.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CITY SUCSUMBS

Miss Annie Jenkinson, a resident of Victoria for more than fifty-five years, passed away yesterday in the Aged Women's Home. She was born in Canada.

Funeral services will be conducted at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. deB. Owen officiating. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

GROUP AT QUALICUM

An Oxford Group house party was held on Wednesday at Qualicum Beach, with an attendance of twenty-five. The visiting team in charge were Duncan residents, Hugh Savage, M.P.P., took charge of the meeting, and other speakers were Mrs. A. Wilson, Mrs. E. H. McCall, Mrs. Corfield and Alec Clark.

"... So that Our Visitors will be Sorry to Leave"

"If we are going to invite people to this country, we must be honest with them . . . Courtesy costs nothing and is one of our greatest tourist assets . . . Let us so treat strangers within our gates that it will be easy for them to come, pleasant for them to stay, and difficult for them to leave."

Rt. Hon. R. B. BENNETT, Prime Minister of Canada, in the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureau, November 6, 1934.

Canada's tourist activities represent more than a great industry from which everybody benefits. They provide an opportunity to create what the Prime Minister has described as "that feeling of neighbourliness" which is such a vital factor in building up cordial relations within the family of nations.

For both these reasons, may I urge upon the people of Canada the importance of showing consideration, courtesy and honesty to guests of our country? Let us all do those little acts of kindness which count for so much when one travels in a strange land.

We have a beautiful country. We must keep it so. We want our visitors to travel highways free from disfigurement, walk the streets of cities that are orderly and clean, and find at the end of every day's travel an inviting spot to rest. Canadians should turn their attention now to the important work of preparing for next year's tourist season.

As a nation, we are advertising abroad the attractions of Canada as a holiday land. We must see to it that our guests return home with only the happiest recollections—and the determination to come back again and again.

Nor should we forget, in planning our own vacations, that there are beauties to discover and friendships to be made in our neighbouring provinces. We live in one of the world's most glorious playgrounds—let us learn to know better the rich variety of its travel attractions.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM

Mr. S. W. Fairweather, Director of Economics of the Canadian National Railways, in speaking before the Traffic Club at Montreal, said that railway development in Canada "has been amply justified" by the resulting growth of national wealth, and "in this sense there is no railway problem." The taxpayers, however, are persuaded that there is a railway problem, and that it will remain until the C.N.R. earns enough money to pay its debts to the public. National ownership of railways, in actual outlays, is costing the people of Canada at the rate of nearly $100,000,000 a year during latter years, and the accumulated debt now reaches a fabulous sum which there seems but a slim chance of ever paying through railroad operation. Despite what Mr. Fairweather says, there is a railway problem, and it is perhaps the most serious one with which the country is confronted. It was not so long ago that Mr. Fairweather himself admitted the character of the losses accruing through competition between public and private ownership. In this connection The Montreal Star says:

"Unfortunately there is a railway problem; and if Mr. Fairweather, C.N.R. economist, will consult the evidence that Mr. S. W. Fairweather, C.N.R. economist, gave before the Duff Commission, he will note that this Mr. Fairweather then said that the policy of railway unification could make savings totaling $55,400,000 a year which would then have fairly met the interest owed by the C.N.R. to the public."

EQUALITY OR LIBERTY—WHICH?

It used to be said that the blessings prefigured in the three-fold watchword of the French Revolution—Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity,—did not become the possession of any single nation, but that the French simply achieved a kind of political equality, the Americans endeavored to achieve economic equality, and the British people, fundamentally individualists, remained well content to enjoy the advantages of liberty. This statement of the case is at least partially true, but as regards ourselves it should never be forgotten that liberty is not something that a nation or a people can achieve once for all and retain in peaceable possession forever afterwards. On the contrary, liberty can be enjoyed only by those who are determined to keep it in spite of all the assaults made upon it by its natural enemies. Liberty is subject to attack from two sides. On one side is the possible tyranny of a single person and on the other the tyranny of the crowd; in other words, personal dictatorship and proletarian dictatorship. If the individual is to retain his liberty he must be prepared to resist both of these.

Dictatorship of either sort seeks to justify itself on the theory that the individual is, after all, of no real importance, but that the State is everything. The Fascist or the Socialist does not invite the free individual to engage in labor, which, while primarily undertaken for personal profit, nevertheless brings advantage to the community as a whole. The proposal takes the form not of an invitation to a free man but that of an imperious command to serve the State on an equalitarian basis. Fascist and Socialist alike tell him that he must content himself with equality and resign any claim to liberty. Natural history has provided the Socialist with a perfect model of the Socialist State. Among the ants the State is everything and individualism is simply not tolerated. The ants, true Marxians, have a short and easy way with individualists.

The choice that the Socialists offer us is thus the choice—between individual and political liberty on the one hand, and the economic equality of a slave State dominated and drilled by the self-appointed saviors of society on the other. It is, in short, the choice between political liberty and economic equality. Canadians generally are well aware of the nature of the alternative offered to them. It is well known, too, that in the United States, where the depression, according to all accounts, has been much more severe than in Canada, some very drastic economic experiments are going on. What is the principle upon which these experiments are based?

If Mr. Newton Baker has the right idea,—he is Chief of the 1934 Mobilization for Human Needs, and naturally sympathetic towards distressed people,—it seems that the American people are "coming more and more to regard the State as a legitimate and responsible carrier of individual, group, or class burdens." He speaks of the "dangerous and debilitating" effects of governmental and official relief in that country, in that "it becomes at once a right, and those to whom it is given, both individually and collectively, devote themselves to preserving and extending the right." It appears that they organize to bring political pressure upon governments to enlarge the distribution. They formulate programmes calling for money rather than necessities. Political and persuasive at the outset, the pressure soon degenerates into violence, and there have been exhibitions of truculence and actual violence to attendants at relief stations.

The spirit that prompts these activities may pass when good times return, but the danger, as Mr. Baker points out, lies in the fact that many people in the big republic are actually flitting with the theory that it is the duty of the State to provide relief for those who ask for it, and particularly for those who are prepared to enforce their demands by radical action. This spirit is stronger now than it used to be. Forty years ago a single utterance from a distinguished statesman put to silence the clamor for a certain pension bill. He said it was the duty of a citizen to support the State, not the duty of the State to support the citizen. At the moment the problem of relief in the United States is an important and difficult one. It will, no doubt, be solved in due course. The love of liberty, however, is pretty strong in the average American breast, and the average American will not, in the long run, patiently submit to any proletarian dictatorship.

LORD SNOWDEN'S TRIBUTE

It is the custom of many to be caustic in their criticism of things and men of which and of whom they know next to nothing. Mr. Montague Norman, the Governor of the Bank of England, is regarded as the hydra-headed monster of the banking system by exponents of the Socialistic creed. They know nothing of the man, and except where broad-mindedness prevails, they want to know nothing. To them he simply embodies something which they criticize destructively and speak of in terms that display little enough knowledge of the teachings of history and seemingly none at all of the facts of a given situation. One Socialist, however, and perhaps the most notable in latter-day England, has met Mr. Norman, of the Bank of England, and has grown to know him well. Here is Lord Snowden's estimate of the man with whom he consulted when the policy of replacing the gold standard by sterling was being discussed:

"There came into my room a man so different from reports of him. He might have stepped out of the frame of a portrait of a handsome courtier of the Middle Ages. It took but a short acquaintance with Mr. Norman to know that his external appearance was the bodily expression of one of the kindest of natures and most sympathetic hearts it has been my privilege to know. To him, more than to any statesman in Europe, is the credit due for the partial restoration of the economic condition of Europe from the utter collapse in the years following the war. Whether Mr. Norman's policy and actions have been right or wrong, whether he has made mistakes or not, one thing is indisputable—no man with great responsibilities ever tried more faithfully to discharge them with the single aim of promoting national and international well being. I know nothing at all about his politics. I do not know if he has any. A man's real politics arise from his temperament and feeling, and the Governor's nature is essentially democratic. I should say that he hates snobbery and class distinction. . . . After four years of intimate and almost daily association with him, I am sure his work as Governor of the Bank of England, especially in developing the principles of central banking and international financial co-operation, deserve the recognition which posterity will accord to him."

GREAT BRITAIN'S FINANCIAL CONFIDENCE

One of the best criterions of the success of the policies of the National Government in Great Britain is reflected on the Stock Exchange in the buoyancy of British Government bonds. One day recently 2½ per cent Consols touched 85, which is the highest price reached for twenty-five years. In company with this rise there were rises also in 4 per cent Consols, the War Loan, 4 per cent Funding and Local Loans. The demand for securities as represented by British Funds continues unabated and flows over into corporation loans, Dominion and Colonial Government bonds as well as all dividend-paying companies. There is a large weight of money seeking employment. Confidence has been fully restored by the actions of the National Government, and the Government bonds continue to stand out prominently in all trading.

ON A DESERTED COTTAGE

Just an old house among the trees—that's all. Empty these many years. O, long ago It was alive with childish laughs, aglow With living eyes and singing fires, that hall—So lean and lifeless now. This well-worn wall Shielded a garden where there once did grow Dahlias and roses—all now dead. Ah, so. For I am sure that when the night doth fall Upon this blackened, eyesore corner, the souls Of all those lovely things—departed long—Are seen flitting from room to room, and heard: The gypsy spirit of a vagrant song; The gold-bright soul of many a gentle word; And through those rooms its laughs, still lovely, throng.

News and Nonsense

By M. A. B.

Well! The Royal wedding is over. It was a grand affair. All the world applauded the marriage of the Prince and Princess, which was accompanied by all the romance usually associated with fairy stories. No fairy prince ever took his bride under more romantic circumstances, for through the marvels of science the peoples of the whole globe were permitted to listen in on the actual proceedings in Westminster Abbey. There is something inherent in men and women—perhaps it is the remembrance of the fancies of childhood—that responds to such a ceremony as that performed yesterday. At all events, the whole world will wish the young couple well.

The Royal wedding suggests other weddings that would arouse great interest in Canada. For instance, if Rt. Hon. Richard Bedford Bennett blushing announced to the press gallery at Ottawa that he was about to become a husband, it would cause a sensation. If his great political antagonist, Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, were to make a similar pronouncement in a four hour speech it would be worth an extra edition of every paper in the Dominion; while a decision of Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., to merge his life with that of a suitable young woman would, indeed, create as much interest as would the amalgamation of the railways.

While other cities and municipalities of British Columbia are proceeding, in orderly manner, to the holding of their annual elections, no contest is creating more interest than the candidature of Mr. Gerald Grattan McGeer, K.C., in Vancouver. The campaign is proving to be as good as a vaudeville show, and Mr. Attorney-General Sloan, who has charge of such things, should see to it that an amusement tax is paid by Vancouver for the entertainment. If Mr. McGeer is elected, the first meeting of the city council should be broadcast over the Canadian National network. The mayor would not object. He intends to make the council "toe the line." He has promised to do the mayoral tasks in one-tenth of the time that Mayor McGowan has taken. The first meeting might go something like this:

Mayor McGowan—The meeting will now come to order, and I don't want to hear any of the aldermen interrupt me. I'll do all the talking.

A bold alderman—But, Mr. Mayor . . .

The Mayor—No buts from you, I'll do all the butting that there is to do. First of all, we'll butt in on the financial arrangements with the banks. The banks must go—I'll attend to that. Then I'll take over the policing of the city. I've wanted to do so for a long time. Then we—that is I—will bring the Provincial Government to time—they're only a bunch of little wordsmiths anyway—they've got to listen to me, and they'll have to do as I say. They can't slight the City of Vancouver now that I'm mayor. There'll be no more running over to Victoria to see the Government. When we want to tell them what they must do, I'll send for "Duff" and his Cabinet to come over here. We will save a lot of money in that way. Now I'm going to announce the committee chairman for the year:

Finance Committee—That eminent financier, G. G. McGeer.

Public Works Committee—Boiler-maker Gerry McGeer.

Fire and Police Committee—G. Grattan McGeer, expert criminologist.

Legal and Legislative Committee—Gerald Grattan McGeer, K.C.

Transportation Committee—Freight rates expert, Gerald G. McGeer, K.C.

Exhibition committee—Gerry (himself) McGeer.

Now that will be all the committees for the present, but if any more are necessary the mayor will take personal charge of them. Now gentlemen, I must congratulate you on the fine spirit of co-operation you have demonstrated here today, and as I have nothing more to tell you at the moment, the meeting is over. There will be another meeting of the council when I consider it necessary. I may tell you that by my stop-watch this meeting has lasted four minutes and thirty-eight seconds, but being the first, some delay has naturally occurred. Next time we meet, we will clip a few seconds off this record—unless some person interrupts me.

Another evidence of the return to normalcy is the appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire into the state of coal mining. There have been two such investigations held in the past. The minutes of those meetings; the evidence taken at the time, and the recommendations made by the commissions are on file. Nothing was done about the matter. Less coal is being produced now than when the last inquiry was held, and less was being mined then than when the first was instituted. It is to be hoped that the recommendations of the present commission will result in some constructive action, or it may be that coal mining will vanish as an industry.

RECEPTION OF WEDDING GOOD

Short-Wave Fans in Victoria Hear Broadcast From England Fairly Clearly

Many early rising Victorians heard the pomp and ceremony attached to the Royal wedding in London early yesterday morning, and short wave reception was generally reported as good.

The wedding broadcast, announced by Howard Marshall, of the British Broadcasting Corporation, was on the air at approximately 2:35 o'clock.

A short description of the arrival of the Royal couple preceded the actual broadcast. Microphones were "faded in" and the actual ceremonies inside Westminster Abbey were on the air. The splendour of the giant organ in the abbey were distinctly heard in Victoria, although the choir was muffled at times due to atmospheric conditions.

PRINCESS' VOICE CLEAR

The crystal clear tones of Princess Marina were easily the feature of the whole broadcast. Prince George sounded nervous and his voice was somewhat muffled. At all times the voice of the Archbishop of Canterbury was clearly received.

Following the wedding, Mr. Marshall's voice again was heard describing the crowd and color outside the abbey. The peeling of the abbey bells came in extremely clear as the broadcast ended.

Both Columbia and National broadcasting systems were on the air with the early programme, many listeners picking up the service from Eastern points as well as Seattle. C.R.C.V. and the Canadian Radio Commission presented recorded versions of the programme yesterday morning and last night.

SEARCH CONTINUED FOR BIG WOOD TRUCK STOLEN LAST WEEK

Although city and district police departments have been searching for a week, no trace has yet been found of a two-ton wood truck, bearing a British Columbia licence No. 22-098, which was stolen, on November 22, from Cormorant Street, near Government Street. The machine was a 1928 International.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of this truck is asked to communicate with the Victoria police department.

IN MEMORIAM

(Captain James W. Troup, who passed away on Nov. 30, 1931.)

Though from our midst thy form has passed forever,

Time hath not dimmed the smile we loved so well.

True as the bond which death alone may sever.

We think of thee too deep for words to tell.

Down by the sea, where thou art calmly sleeping,

Great ships move proudly on the surging tide.

And o'er thy head the ocean breeze is weeping.

With lapping waters ever at thy side.

Sounds of the sea, and sighs thou loved about thee,

Song birds and blooms and barks from distant seas.

Nature in tune, with children all around thee,

Seagulls wing o'er thee, ever on the breeze.

Through splendid night, when myriad stars are gleaming,

Though silence reigns, still thou art not alone.

For by thy side the ships thou loved are steaming;

Cleaving the wave, they pass with steady drone.

(Dedicated to Mrs. James W. Troup and family, November 30, 1934.)

Y.M.C.A. Notes—The Young Men's Christian Association opened its reading-room yesterday to the public. The store recently occupied by Adler's Foot Street has been secured, and a large table has been supplied with latest editions of home and foreign newspapers and various magazines. A couple of tables are in the corner of the room, equipped with drinks. The room is well heated and warm, and no doubt will be well patronized by all who wish to spend a quiet and restful hour. The special service was present, prepared to welcome all who come to the reading-room, becoming place of pleasant resort. A small room adjoining the larger room is to be furnished as a conversation room.

New Legal Firm—George Jay and J. Stuart Yates, who have been attending to E. Johnson's business during his absence in England, will go into partnership in the legal profession.

Letters to Editor

No letter to the editor will be accepted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 500 words in length.

LIFEBOAT ASSOCIATION

Sir,—This letter is the twenty-fourth of the series being issued with the authority of the directors of the Vancouver Island Lifeboat Association. The last letter contained directions for making a distress call for aid at any hour of the day or night.

For those readers who have not understood the directions, the same will now be given in a different form. When the crew of a row-boat or a small motor launch is in distress, it is their duty to make the proper distress signal in such a way that it can be seen clearly from the shore. This signal is made by waving an oar to and fro, with the blade in the air parallel to the point on the shore from which assistance is expected. Tie a shirt or other piece of material to the oar to make the oar conspicuous to watchers on the shore. The watcher on shore who sees the signal will hang a white sheet of some kind out of a window or some conspicuous place so as to show that the waving oar has been seen and that a phone call has been sent to the Provincial Police.

When a watcher goes to the phone, ring Empire 1111, then ask for number 385, which is the office of the "A" Division of the Provincial Police. This office is open from 9 a.m. till 6 p.m., and is in charge of Sergeant R. Harvey. If the office is closed, then phone up Sergeant Harvey at his house, Garden 3896. If Sergeant Harvey is not at home, try Constable H. P. Hughes, at Empire 5079. If both the above are out, then Constable A. G. Carmichael will be at Empire 4070. As a boating accident may take place anywhere between Williams Head and Sidney, the Provincial Police may have to hire a launch to co-operate with the Victoria No. 1, or send a launch alone. When the phone is answered give your name and phone, then give a brief and clear description of where the boat is, the number of people in it and the direction in which it is moving.

After dark the best distress signal is made with an electric torch, which should be flashed continuously and waved to and fro over the head, care being taken to direct the light towards a house on the shore. This signal should be acknowledged by a continuous number of short flashes, also from a torch. Registered ships and vessels carry red flares for use when in distress.

Office of the V.I.L.A. 612 Sayward Building, Victoria, B.C., November 28, 1934.

THE UNEMPLOYED

Sir,—Every edition of the daily press contains figures purporting to show how property has returned. Yet there are still somewhere in the neighborhood of 80,000 to 100,000 men and women in this province without work. Some of these have not had a job for four years—many of them never will have another job under this system. It is an undignified fact that of the things which are necessary to maintain life, even at a minimum, food, clothing and shelter, there is a superabundance. Even this superabundance could be trebled or quadrupled if all industries worked at capacity.

It is not my purpose here to argue the economics of the question. The weight of the logic involved is all on the side of a new system, but I am only concerned for the moment with the actual realities as they exist today. A year ago, Hon. Mr. Pattullo promised to abolish the relief camps and to provide work and wages for all. He expressed great impatience with Dr. Toimie for not vacating office sooner because he was so anxious to put his schemes into effect. One of his party, Mr. Gordon Wismer, said on his election platform that "we shall go to Ottawa for the money and if it is not forthcoming we shall not let the constitution stand in the way. If there is no money, we shall create one. Men must be put to work without delay." That was a year ago. Neither the precedent nor the work and wages have materialized, nor are they yet in sight.

To the unemployed it is immaterial what Government is in the saddle. Dr. Toimie could not have done less—possibly he might have done more. But for the unemployed there is only one question—"When do we eat?" Terrible, even fantastic as it may seem, this is the paramount issue today, in a land laden with rotting food. The unemployed are nobody's children. Even charity is getting shy of them. Not that they want charity, but all Governments are endeavoring to shelve the responsibility, and the unemployed have come to the end of their five years of patience. So they are organizing to confront the Government of this province, not only with their broken promises, but with demands for a better standard of relief. The support of the public is solicited in this just and courageous campaign. They are asked to contribute generously to the tag day, on Saturday next, and to show their interest by backing up the delegation to the Government on December 7. Even if one is employed at present, one is still in the position of a soldier at the front; one never knows when the next day will be the last.

The distress amongst the unemployed is real. Only those who actually known by personal contact can really appreciate how bad they are. This denial of the right to live and live well must not be allowed to continue in a country of such immense actual and potential wealth as Canada. T. GUY SHEPPARD, 3 Yates Street, Victoria, B.C., November 28, 1934.

History of Oxford and Cambridge Unions Are Given

(Contributed)
 The Oxford Union Society, to be represented by Robertson O'Brien in the forthcoming debate to be held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday, December 3, 1825, for the sole purpose of discussing any subject not immediately involving theological subjects.

The first public meeting was held in one of the "low-browed rooms of Christ Church." The Debating Society contains numerous portraits of the distinguished men who have been its members.

Many great names, besides that of Mr. Gladstone, adorn the records of the society. Among his contemporaries were the Duke of Newcastle, Cardinal Manning, Prebendaries Sinclair Marriot and Jackson, Lord Sherbrooke, Bishop Samuel Wilberforce, Lord Herbert of Lea, and Archbishop Tait. The latter was on one occasion fined one pound for "persisting in an attempt to address the society," after being several times called to order. Lord Salisbury (then Lord Robert Cecil) was secretary in 1848 and treasurer from 1849-50 and, like Gladstone, owed his early training to the union debates.

GIVES INSPIRATION
 For many years, the idea of inviting distinguished orators to address the house had been frowned upon; but a new departure was made in 1888. Lord Randolph Churchill and Lord Morley focussed the attention of observant men everywhere on the crucial question of home rule for Ireland in the Union debating hall. Since that date, there is hardly a man of eminence who has failed to join in the proceedings of the union, which may legitimately pride itself on the fact that it has given, in a higher degree than any other similar body, a definite inspiration to the public life and welfare of the country.

The First Dominion Day

Within a few months of Confederation (July 1st, 1867), the EMU Company came into existence. In those days the pioneering of Australian Wines—like the pioneering of the Fathers of Confederation—was difficult work.

But we have won through. EMU Wines are now deservedly popular throughout the Empire. Two wines which have made a considerable reputation throughout Canada are EMU 444 and EMU 999—White and Tawny Port. They are produced on our own vineyards at Morphet Vale (South Australia); aged in the wood and are wines of outstanding quality.

They cost you considerably less than Foreign Port of equal quality because their Empire origin entitles them to a preferential tariff when entering Canada.

NEEDS FUNDS FOR HAMPERS

Victoria Club Starts Out to Get $3,000 to Provide Christmas Cheer

The need of generous public support to the Gyro Christmas hamper fund, which is now under way, is stressed in an interview with Leonard Woodhouse, president of the club and general chairman of the campaign to raise $3,000, or more, with which to provide needy persons with the good things enjoyed by others in more fortunate circumstances.

In connection with the drive, Mr. Woodhouse said: "Early this Fall, as a result of numerous suggestions from various public sources, the Gyro Club of Victoria took under consideration the question of sponsoring the organization, provision and distribution of the Christmas hamper customary at this season for the needy of the community. Prior to the forming of any decision along these lines, a careful survey was made of the situation and inquiries made of various civic and welfare officials as to the possibilities that might arise by our entrance into this field of activity. The suggestion was found to be wholeheartedly supported by all approached, and, as a result, our organization by unanimous vote decided to undertake the work."

LIMIT ACTIVITIES
 "Once we had established beyond all doubt the fact that we had the sympathetic support of those most closely in touch with the situation, organization for the drive necessary to reach our objective was commenced and at the time of writing preparatory ground was being carefully covered. The first question receiving attention was the extent of the field that could be included in the distribution, and while we would have liked to include the whole south end of the Island, we decided that it would be necessary for us to limit our activities to the following sections of the community:

The city of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and a few of the outlying unorganized districts not previously covered in holiday activities.

The municipality of Saanich, which covers a very large territory, has already plans for internal organization of the hamper drive.

NEED 1,500 HAMPERS

"Upon a check-up being made with various reliable sources we have found that plans will be required for the provision and proper distribution of approximately 1,500 hampers, which will run in size from supplies for a single individual to those of families with six or eight children. In order to fill these hampers we will need about twenty tons of foodstuffs and a cash fund of approximately $3,000, this money to be used to augment the supplies donated to the requirements of the various hampers. This is naturally an undertaking of tremendous extent and only with the wholehearted support of each and every citizen will it be possible for us to insure that each deserving and needy family receives their hamper of holiday cheer at Christmas."

NO OVERHEAD COSTS

"In a drive of this nature, where it will be necessary for us, at all times, to merit and receive the full confidence of the subscribing public, the matter of financial arrangements is of major importance. This question has, therefore, been carefully provided for and all accounts will be under constant and careful scrutiny of a chartered accountant, who will prepare and verify all statements to the public. Our undertaking will be that each and every dollar subscribed in cash or goods will be distributed 100 cents in the hampers. There will be no deduction of any kind for overhead or expenses. This will make it possible to use contributions in full for the express purpose that they are intended."

EXCHANGE OPERATING

"In order that the large field may be effectively and efficiently covered, with no overlapping of the work of other societies similarly active, the usual Christmas Exchange is already in operation. This exchange is an entirely separate unit from our own organization and will be the clearing house where various bodies intending to participate in hamper distribution may register their intentions and so insure concentration of effort where no distribution is otherwise being made. The exchange is an extremely important requirement in the holiday effort and it is hoped a spirit of co-operation on the part of all will allow an achievement of its objective. The exchange will be provided at no expense to those who use its files and overhead having already been provided for," Mr. Woodhouse stated.

SOVIET AMBASSADOR ON HIS WAY TO U.S.

MOSCOW, Nov. 29 (AP).—Alexander Troianovsky, Soviet Ambassador to Washington, left on the Trans-Siberian Express, last night, en route to America, by way of Japan and Honolulu.

The Ambassador declined to make any statement concerning negotiations with the United States for settlement of the Russian debt problem, commenting: "It will be time enough to make that statement after I have reached Washington."

He expects to reach Washington early in January.

What Today Means

"SAGITTARIUS"

If November 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m. and from 5:45 to 7:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m. and from 8:45 to 10:45 p.m.

On this November 30 you should avoid taking any undue risks in business, as it is likely to be unfavorable for trades formulated on purely a speculative hope. It is advisable to be conservative in figuring overhead operating costs, or estimating prospective profits. The housewife will display good judgment if she indulges in window shopping on this date, as it might enable her to save money. In making social contacts be careful not to mix the fastidiously inclined with those of careless habits. Errors in changing money are liable to occur, so exercise caution. Erratic friends are apt to take offence on the slightest pretext: to avoid arousing their ire it might pay to be very diplomatic. Married and engaged couples, as well as those seeking to gain the good grace of one he or she greatly admires, should guard against doing anything that might create a feeling of disappointment.

If a woman and November 30 is your birthday, be prepared to receive callers, as visitors may help brighten your day. You have probably a nature that craves the peaceful solitude to be found in suburban life. Some horticultural pursuit might be congenial to you, as well as profitable. Your courageous outlook on existence will be reflected in your work and may be the means of your gaining the end for which you strive. Writing, demonstrating, painting or teaching should offer work for which you might be best fitted. A mothering and domestic disposition should assure unqualified success as a wife.

The child born on November 30, when it attains its majority, should be well equipped, both mentally as well as physically, to energetically take up the work for which it is best qualified. A pleasant personality may prove a great asset. If a man and November 30 is your natal day, the spirit of Nimrod possibly dominates your being, so that anything pertaining to hunting or fishing finds you responsive. You very likely have an uncanny ability to find your way out of tight places, finding yourself eventually on the right track, regardless of whether it is the forest or commercial life tangles that beset you. The army or navy, as well as the stage, political platform, pulpit or literary field offer excellent opportunities.

FRENCH ACCORD SALMON QUOTA

Canada Sharing Market for 1935 Equally With Japan and Russia

OTTAWA, Nov. 29 (CP).—It was announced here, today, that the French Government has accorded a quota for the year 1935 of 42,660 metric quintals or 9,285,200 pounds applicable to Canadian canned salmon imported into France. Shipments must not be cleared through the customs in French ports before January 1, 1935. Licences, however, may be issued at Canadian ports from December 1, 1934.

The official announcement clarified the situation in respect to the French market for Canadian canned salmon during the coming year. Canada now shares the market with Japan and Russia, all three nations having been granted the French minimum tariff on canned salmon. The United States product enters the French market under the intermediate tariff.

For the fourteen months from October 1, 1933, to November 30, 1934, Canada's canned salmon quota from France was 74,870 quintals. This was a period of fourteen months, and that time Russia was not in the picture. Since then, however, France has accorded to Russia her minimum tariff on canned salmon and that country is given a share of the market.

Canada secured the minimum tariff on canned salmon when Hon. C. H. Cahan visited Paris in 1932-33 and conducted trade negotiations on behalf of Canada for a new agreement. Prior to that time Canadian salmon had been going into France subject to the general tariff, owing to the lapse of the agreement entered into by the two countries in 1922. The 1922 agreement gave Canada a discount of 90 per cent of the difference between the minimum and general rates.

is a "disappearing wall." It weighs five tons, but by means of a simple mechanism, one person can make it vanish through the floor, thus making two rooms into one. Normally the meeting room holds 350 seats. A When the wall has disappeared the seating accommodation is increased by 150.

"Soft-speakers" have been installed in the Henry Florence Memorial Hall. They are placed in the ceiling and reinforce the voice without distorting it. The building, with its furniture, has cost $425,000, and in it Empire materials have been used throughout.

Each room has height appropriate to its floor space, in contrast to the "layer-cake" conception of superimposed floors of equal height, heretofore a characteristic of steel-framed buildings.

Royal Bride's Wedding Gown Was of Silver

LONDON, Nov. 29 (CP-AP).—Like a princess of the middle ages—robed in shining cloth of silver—Princess Marina marched to the altar for the ceremony linking her to the Royal House. As she swept through Westminster Abbey, she wore a magnificent gown—jewel of a trousseau that has probably caused more interest than any since Eugenie became the Empress of Napoleon III.

It is cut on long closely fitted lines, with the rather high bodice and flowing sleeves recalling the middle ages and bringing memories of princesses who lived in mediaeval towers. Plain silver lace formed the broad turn-back cuffs of those flowing sleeves and lined the fourteen-foot train which fell from the shoulders.

Over the hair of the slender, blue-eyed Princess fitted a veil of old family lace, used at the weddings of her mother, Princess Nicholas of Greece, and her sister, Princess Paul of Yugoslavia. It was supplemented by yards of white tulle falling over her shoulders like a mist and covering the greater part of her silvery train.

CHOICE IN CLOTHES

Distinction and simplicity are Princess Marina's choice in clothes. She has long been known for her taste and chic. Beautiful materials and simple lines mark her trousseau. "I do not believe there has been any one since Empress Eugenie whose taste has been calculated to have so wide an interest," says Captain Molyneux, who designed the collection.

Three morning dresses, five afternoon frocks, six evening gowns and two coats comprise it. Beside these Princess Marina has added to the same colors as her frocks fifteen little "bell boy" toques which are widely copied in England and on the Continent. Her bags, gloves and scarfs are usually in the same shades as her costumes.

Beige is the most favored color in her clothes, followed by dark and light blues. Among the most striking frocks are evening gowns of beige and soft pink designed on long slender lines and worn with sash girdles.

Y.P.S. News

METROPOLITAN

Members of Metropolitan Young People's Society have been rehearsing during the last month for the presentation, on Monday evening, of Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works. The models will represent many of the famous historic characters that have greatly influenced the course of history. A large number of these wax figures have been procured for the occasion, and the evening promises to be one of great interest to all the young people.

A special Christmas programme will be presented on Monday, December 17, when "Christmas Through the Centuries" will be shown through the medium of an unusual picture setting. Each picture will be posed by the young people, and appropriate music will accompany the scene. In addition, the Drama Group will present a one-act play, "The Color Line."

CENTENNIAL

An interesting and enjoyable time was had by the young people of Centennial United Church, on Tuesday evening, when the meeting took the form of a travelogue. Jim McCague and Ernest Hatch were in charge. The first stop was made at the main city fire hall, where a demonstration and full description of all the modern fire-fighting apparatus were given by the firemen. They carefully explained the construction and use of the various extinguishers and bits of first aid equipment. From the fire hall the group proceeded to the power plant of the Empress Hotel, where they were shown the dynamo, the large furnaces and the refrigeration plant.

ST. AIDAN'S

At the meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Aidan's United Church, this evening, Mr. Donald A. Fraser, the Victoria poet, will give readings of his own work, and relate interesting incidents concerning the origin of some of his poems. An interesting evening is anticipated and all are invited.

Clubs-Societies

St. Columba's W.A.

St. Columba's W.A. was held on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Huntington, Holland Avenue, when two new members, Mrs. Craddock and Mrs. Carlson, were welcomed. A satisfactory report of the harvest supper was submitted by the secretary, the sum of $48.50 being realized. The sum of $50 will be sent for diocesan needs; also an additional $20 will be paid towards the deficit in church funds and for the Living Message. These sums fulfill the allocation for 1934. It was reported by the Dorcas secretary that three large bales of clothing had been sent to Prairie provinces, and also many large bundles and beds were sent to the Saanich Welfare. Arrangements will be made for motion pictures to be shown the last week in December. The proceeds will be for church funds. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carlson, Holland Avenue, on December 11, when the nomination of officers for 1935 will be held.

St. Martin's W.A.

St. Martin's Young Business Women's Branch of the Women's Auxiliary held a successful bazaar on Wednesday afternoon, which was opened by Lady Lake, whose helpful words were much appreciated, after which Miss Elizabeth Harding presented Lady Lake with a bouquet of chrysanthemums on behalf of the branch. The music during the tea hour, which was provided by the Warnclyff Trio, was greatly enjoyed. The stalls were attractively decorated with colored crepe paper and Oregon grape leaves. The tea was served by Mrs. H. Rogers (conver), Mrs. Ende, Miss Prior, Miss Turkington and Miss T. Parker. Mrs. Leggett had charge of the home-cooking stall, Miss Wratton, Mrs. Frew and Miss Stocken the novelty stall, and Miss Clegg the candy and doll guessing.

South Saanich L.A.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Mary's and St. Stephen's Churches will hold its annual sale of goods at the West Saanich Women's Institute, Hall, Brentwood Bay, on Saturday afternoon. Tea will be served during the afternoon. Mrs. E. Rochon will have charge of tickets. Stalls will be in charge of Mrs. W. O. Wallace, Mrs. H. R. Gale, Lady Colville, Mrs. W. Deering, Mrs. F. Greenstead and Miss Lyle. The tea convenor, Mrs. C. H. Syman, will be assisted by Mrs. T. Oxley, Mrs. T. Haddon and Mrs. A. Spencer.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

LANGFORD

The monthly meeting of the Langford Women's Institute was held in the hall, Dunford Road, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen was in the chair. Reports of the previous meeting and the financial statement were read by the secretary, Mrs. MacDonald. The "bandaging bee," held Monday afternoon, was most satisfactory, and a plentiful supply of bandages is now on hand. Mrs. H. Hinks reported on the party which was held under the auspices of the Institute. The affair was very successful. The secretary was instructed to write letters of thanks to the Community Club and the Parent-Teacher Association for their donations towards the motion pictures which were shown that evening. Mrs. Bullen congratulated Miss Savory on her election, for the fourth year, to the board of directors of the Women's Council, at the recent conference, held in Victoria, and presented her with a photograph of the members of the board. An interesting report on the conference was read by the president, Mrs. P. Welch, on hand-weaving, at Esquimalt, and Mrs. H. Hinks, on the splendid work accomplished by Dr. Wace and Dr. Young, were received. The proceeds from the card party, to be held Wednesday, will be donated to the Christmas hamper funds. Tea was served by Mrs. H. Hinks and Mrs. R. M. Heggie.

Canadians Are Among The Guests

LONDON, Nov. 29 (CP).—A score of Canadians were among the brilliant company that witnessed the Royal wedding, in ancient Westminster Abbey, today, while hundreds of others saw the Royal processions.

Canada House, barely off the procession route, was decorated with the flags of Britain, Canada, Greece and Denmark, with an enormous maple leaf edged by 150 electric bulbs over the entrance. The building was floodlighted through the week, in keeping with the rest of London's fine decorations.

COURT DRESS

With the exception of Lieutenant-General Sir Henry Burstall, of the 2nd Division of the Canadian Corps during the war, who wore full dress uniform, the men among the Canadians attending the ceremony wore court dress.

The Canadians invited were Lieutenant-General and Lady Burstall; Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner, and Mrs. Ferguson; Dr. L. Lemieux, Agent-General for Quebec, and Mrs. Lemieux; W. A. MacAdam, acting agent-general for British Columbia, and Mrs. MacAdam; W. C. Noxon, former Agent-General for Ontario, and Mrs. Noxon; Sir George Badgerow, distinguished surgeon, and Lady Badgerow; Sir Campbell Stuart; Lady Eaton, of Toronto; Prof. J. C. McEellan, of Toronto; Miss Elizabeth Montzambert; Mrs. Kathleen Bowker; Madame G. P. Vanier, wife of Col. G. P. Vanier, of the High Commissioner's office; Mrs. A. D. McRae, of Vancouver, and Mrs. F. J. Crawford, of Toronto.

CANADIANS' GOWNS

Mrs. Ferguson wore a gown of smoky blue maroon crepe, cut with large sleeves, deep lines at the shoulder and high neck lined by two diamond buttons. Her hat was brown, trimmed with a plume. She wore a Canadian mink stole.

Lady Burstall chose a bottle green ensemble with fox fur, and she carried a corsage bouquet of grey-green orchids.

Lady Badgerow wore black velvet trimmed with fox fur, with a black velvet hat trimmed with a red feather.

Lady Eaton's tunic dress was of pale rose and silver lame, with a black velvet cloak and a rose scarf.

Mrs. McRae wore black crepe maroon, embellished with black satin motifs, silver fox fur and a tricorn hat, the veil of which was caught with jeweled clips.

"THE CHILD"

By REGINALD R. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

WORK IN PREVENTION OF DISEASE

First I would like to make a correction of an error of mine made in a previous article on Health Habits, which a patient's mother kindly pointed out to me. Four glasses of water were given as the daily requirements of a child. This amount should rightly refer to the school child. For the younger child, who will not ask for water, two glasses, in addition to his pint of milk, should be given. The infant (proportionately as to weight), requires much more fluid, actually three ounces per pound of weight daily (this, of course, includes milk). The infant should always be offered warm boiled water between regular feedings.

The majority of mothers who bring their children to the clinic, on Fort Street, do so, not because they manifest obvious symptoms of disease, but for a routine regular examination to see if "all is well." These regular examinations enable the child's physician to prevent trouble, to ward off disease and to point out and offer advice on many faults in the child's care and training; also to correct many faulty habits, which, if allowed to go on, are apt to persist into later life and mar the child's personality and handicap him in his work and play.

Medicine has become so engrossed in the study of disease and germs that it has forgotten, almost, its real function and most worthwhile endeavor—to promote health and function, or, in other words, the prevention of disease. Prevention should be the constant aim and endeavor of the skillful and conscientious practitioner, and particularly that of the child's physician.

Where the welfare of our children is concerned, and that is the chief aim of every mother and father (worthy of the name), ever bear in mind that to prevent disease, with its train of trouble, discomfort, suffering and possible death, is to forestall the necessity and expense of a cure, with all the trouble and loss of time and worry involved.

Most disease (dis-ease) can and will be prevented, if parents will awake to the necessity of having their children regularly and routinely examined, so the child's physician may help to ward off trouble.

Tomorrow's article—"Examination in Time of Heath Prevents Disease."

ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT

Miss Gladys Shrapnel's orchestra will give a concert, tomorrow, at 8:15 p.m., in the New Thought Hall (Unity Centre), Fort Street. The programme will include an orchestration of the hymn, "Awake My Soul"; a concert version of the "Marsellaise," and a fantasy on the theme, "St. Patrick's Day." A quartette and trios of Mendelssohn and Schubert will also be played. As far as known, this will be the first public performance locally of this Schubert composition (opus 100). G. B. Kitto will act as chairman and the public is invited to attend. There will be no entrance fee, but a collection in aid of the local Anti-Vivisection Society.

ANALYZING THE MOON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (CP).—Take it from Dr. F. E. Wright, there's nothing to that moon-is-made-of-green-cheese theory. The Carnegie Institution scientist announced that the moon's surface is made of translucent rocks, light in color, and other materials such as volcanic ashes.

SILVER SLIPPERS

CHAPTER XLVII

Later in the evening when she and her lover were alone, Joan said: "I wish I hadn't given Rose my fan."

"Why?"

"Oh . . . I watched the two of you dancing this afternoon . . . and she . . . she hesitated, then brought it out. 'Drew, what was she saying to you?'"

He looked at her for a moment, then laughed and drew her to him. "You were jealous?"

"Just for a minute."

He bent his head down to her. She lay very still in his arms. Oh, why should she be afraid of Rose, when Drew adored her?

And now March was well on its way, and in April they were to be married. The days and nights were packed to the brim with engagements, but Drew would often take Joan away for a walk, and they would wander together to the old part of the city near the quay where Columbus set forth on his great voyage. There they would mix with a motley crowd—sailors from their ships, peasant women gaudy in their green shawls—boatmen in scarlet and blue, pigeons flashing against an azure sky.

At times they would stop in an incense-scented church and would kneel together. Drew had no beliefs worth mentioning: "I worship you, my saint," he would say to Joan, and she would thrill to that, and then wish wistfully that he had something more splendid than human love to inspire him. When she told him that, a little breathless because it was all so sacred, he would shake his head: "I'm a heathen, dear heart. And I am afraid I shall never be different."

The nights were marvelous—cold and clear and golden—packed with romance. As they rode on and on, they could catch now and then the echo of a throbbing voice . . . and stop and listen . . .

"Oh galleys bound for Cadiz. Spread out your silver oars. And bear me to my captive love, Who waits me on the moors . . ."

It was all very wonderful and perfect, in spite of the doubts, which knocked now and then at her heart. Joan built castles in Spain.

...take Sal Hepatica

Accumulated wastes in the intestines spread poisons all over your body. This is by far the commonest cause of that "half-sick" feeling, say doctors.

Take Sal Hepatica. It gently, more quickly, flushes away poisonous wastes from your system. It is amazing, then, to note how quickly that "tired feeling" vanishes...how soon you feel like a new person—alert and happy again. Get Sal Hepatica at any drug store.

Where Convict Escaped Under Water

Here is the picturesque spot in the presumably "escape-proof" Folsom State Prison, at Folsom, Cal., where Leroy Baugus, twenty-four, Monterey County robber, successfully effected his escape. The felon dove from the shore at the left, where the spur track may be seen, and swam under water 100 yards through the canal. By the time he was missed, Baugus had secreted himself in the shrubbery. Posses tried in vain to find him. The sensational "break" was executed in the shadow of the numerous watch-towers.

afterward how as they had stood in the dimness and darkness she had caught his arm and had said in a strange voice: "With this ring, I thee wed . . . where's my ring, Scripps?"

He had taken it from his pocket, for it had never left him since she had discarded it, and he had held out her hand, and he had whispered, "As long as we both shall live, Amelle, and for just one moment, she had leaned against him and had let her hand be drawn away, and by the time she reached home she seemed to have forgotten . . ."

She continued to wear the ring, but there were days when she refused to have anything to do with Scripps—days when she insisted that Giles should go everywhere with her, when even their most careful plans brought no memories.

Now and then Scripps grew desperate. "I am not the same man and she knows it. She hates weak things."

Virginia Vane Says:

YOUNG GIRL'S LOVE FOR BROTHER-IN-LAW CERTAIN TO MAKE SISTER'S LIFE MORE MISERABLE

Dear Virginia Vane: I am twenty-two years old and still live at home with my parents. Three months ago my sister and her husband moved into our home, occupying the upper floors of the house. They have been married for five years, but do not get along very well together, although up until the time they came to live with us we had every reason to believe that their was the perfect marital happiness. However, living close to them, we could not help hearing some of their quarrels, and understanding some of their problems.

My brother-in-law and I have seen quite a lot of each other, and two weeks ago he confessed his love for me. I realize that I, too, am deeply in love, and would do anything to have him. I dare not think what my sister would do if she found out, but I am becoming so desperate about the affair that we must have a break sooner or later.

Can you suggest a way out of the difficulty?—J. G.

Aren't you being selfish about this business. Apparently your sister is having none too easy a time as it is, and here you are planning to add more grief to her already unhappy lot. Suppose the circumstances were reversed. I'll bet you wouldn't think the girl in your present position had a very difficult decision to make. Certainly you appear attracted to your brother-in-law at this point. Why not? The unfortunate circumstances that have forced this couple to take refuge in your parents' home have probably been eating the heart out of the relationship for months and months. Naturally your lover has connected all this trouble with his marriage to your sister, and in your present single state you represent for him freedom from the worry and troubles that have developed in his marriage. No, you must see the unfair and unnatural advantage you hold. I know you would never forgive yourself for causing your sister the pain your present course is bound to bring her. And it is indeed seldom that the happiness you look for is found through the sacrifice of someone else.

You have no reason to believe that the ardent love your hero now has for you is based upon anything but the fact that you represent for him an escape from the discord of his present environment. Even though this discord is caused by his very good self, he will feel that a change of surroundings is going to make life serene and happy.

It is, indeed, a dangerous business to build your happiness upon an emotional upheaval such as is now taking place in your sister's home, and it would be wisdom on your part to defer any drastic decision until the present difficulties have ironed themselves out, or until they culminate in a more tangible evidence of incompatibility.

I would strongly urge you, then, to avoid this man as much as you possibly can. Perhaps you could arrange to visit some friend for a few weeks, or take a room where you would not be forced to meet him so often. That is the fair thing to do, not only to your sister, but to yourself and your Lotherio as well.

OTHER BOY FRIENDS NEEDED

Wondering: For your own sake, I would say that you should seek other boy friends. The love you hold for this boy is very fine, and I must commend you for it and your loyalty to him. On the other hand, suppose his love is not as deep as is yours for him. You must see the danger of devoting yourself to him for five or six years, when he has constantly urged you to have other dates. At the end of six years you both may have changed completely, and found that your present love was no more than mere infatuation. It is an ugly thing to think of, but it is so important to your future happiness that I feel forced to bring it to your attention. If your boy friend doesn't feel he wants to take the responsibility of becoming engaged within the next six months, I would suggest that you seek other boy friends.

WRITE NOTE TO FORMER BOY FRIEND

Dear Virginia Vane: Three years ago I was in love with a fine boy. We quarreled, and even when I left his home town I would not call him to say good-bye. I still cared for him, but felt that my pride would not let me admit I was wrong.

I am returning to that town in a few weeks, and am wondering what advances it would be proper for me to make to gain his friendship again. I do not want to appear too forward, or over-anxious. Your advice will be greatly appreciated.—C. F.

Just because three years have elapsed is no reason why you can't offer an apology for your rudeness. I feel sure that your boy friend would welcome such an advance on your part and be eager to renew the acquaintance on the old basis. Write him a note then, telling him that you have returned to the town, that you would like very much to see him, and that you want to have the chance to apologize to him personally for rushing off without even saying good-bye to someone who had been a real friend. Certainly you could not be thought forward for having the good sense and good manners to overcome a natural pride long enough to admit you were wrong.

He has probably been condemning himself for not having written to you during these past three years, and the idea that you have forgiven him, and even consider yourself guilty, will pleasantly surprise him, and he will come rushing.

C. F.: Sorry I haven't been able to answer your letter before this, but it was mislaid, and has just now been called to my attention. Hope I'm not too late, and that you haven't made any drastic decision as yet. Go ahead and marry this lad. Be assured that the discrepancy in your ages is not sufficient to stand in the way of the married happiness of an intelligent girl like yourself.

You know what she said of old Peter?"

"Wait," Giles advised, "she'll come to it. The real woman in her is sweet and kind. Have patience, Scripps, and it will work out."

Yet even as he said it, he wondered. It was hard sometimes to keep his faith in life. There was so much that was cruel, so much that was difficult and devastating.

He and Scripps were stopping at a pleasant and quiet hotel, and it was the night after their conversation about Amelle that Giles went for a walk. He had no destination, was restless, and had felt that physical exercise might help lift the depression which weighed him down.

The street into which he came from the hotel was brilliant with electric lights. To the right and left were shops, closed now, but with their windows golden and their wares displayed. He loitered to look and found himself caught in a maze of speculation. What would happen to the world of commerce if women ceased for a time to buy the things which were brought from the ends of the earth?

All through the ages, merchants had come to cater to feminine longings—beasts with their silken burdens had crossed the mountains, ships had sailed with precious fabrics packed in their holds. In later years there had been trains and motors, trucks and air transports. Women's belongings? A world built about them!

He passed a shoe shop and stopped as he saw shining behind the glass a pair of silver slippers. They had buckles like those on the slippers which had first brought Joan to him. He found himself wanting them. A silly idea, perhaps, but none the less one in which he resolved to indulge himself. He would come tomorrow and buy them and set them where he could look upon them and see Joan in all her grace and girlishness.

He had not heard from her. It had been, perhaps, too much to hope that she would write. Yet he had thought her friendship might concede something more than silence.

It had not. There was, however, the chance that his letter had not reached her. He had her address in Barcelona. It had been given him by the mother of the children he had met in the woods. He had wanted to write again but had kept himself from it. After all, why should he? She had gone, of course, to be with the Hallams. He had read in the papers before he left that they were sojourning in Spain. It meant, of course, that Joan was with them.

Oh, well, such things must be endured. If only she was happy! If only the little ship had not been lost on the rocks . . .

He went on and on. A fine mist was dimming the light of the street lamps. He knew he ought to go in, but he knew, too, he could not sleep. When at last he reached his hotel he was cold and wet. As he entered his room it seemed to fairly shriek with loneliness. The wind blew strongly against the window. The sound brought memories of other storms across the sea . . . he thought of Dilly shut in with love . . . of the glow of her hearthstone, of the child in her arms. He thought of his own future. Not much to think of. He would have no other woman in it but Joan.

To have known her and then to have lost her! A man who had lost by death a beloved woman might find peace perhaps in the thought of a reunion. But to lose her to another man . . . a man like Hallam . . . "I could have made her happy. I know I could have made her happy. But if she marries Hallam . . . God help her."

The next morning he went back to the shop where he had seen the silver slippers. It was a very exclusive shop . . . and the price of the slippers was high. But he cared nothing for that, and presently he had them, done up in a parcel and under his arm. The salesman hoped that the size was right. It was always, he asserted, a risk to buy shoes without fitting them. Giles said with a smile that there would, he thought, be no trouble. He had chosen a pair that were slender and small, like Joan's pretty feet.

Then, as if his thoughts of her had brought her to him, he came face to face with Joan as he was leaving the shop.

They stared at each other as if they were seeing ghosts, then Joan held out her hand. "You aren't real, are you?"

GIVE REPORTS ON B.C. MINES

Mining Men Gather at Vancouver—Electrical Ore Finder Creates Interest

VANCOUVER, Nov. 29 (CP).—An "electro-magnetometer," with "eyes and ears" which have an affinity for mineral depositions, attracted attention at the annual meeting yesterday of the British Columbia Division, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Eugene Bergman, of the University of Washington, Seattle, gave a technical description of it and of its use in locating ores. It does not give any indication of values. Major C. B. North, manager of the B.C. Nickel Mines, Limited, property in Yale Mining Division, told the meeting there were no material metallurgical difficulties regarding methods to be applied for extraction of the minerals from B.C. Nickel ores. He expected that within the next few months there would be sufficient tonnage "in sight" to justify a reduction works.

PAYS WAY FROM ORE

Major A. M. Davis described development of the Dentonia mine and mill in Southeastern British Columbia. The property had been "paying its way" from ore.

Unexpected veins of ore had been found in the Cariboo district, Douglas Lay, provincial resident engineer, said. It was reasonable to expect that the veins go to depth and are persistent, he said.

H. V. Warren, M.E., gave a highly technical address regarding the ores of the Cariboo Gold Quartz Company. It was his conclusion that the ore was deep-seated.

PLAN HUGE PARK IN NORTH WALES

National Reserve Among the Mountains Is Project of Lloyd George and Others

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Lloyd George, Britain's war-time premier, is among those interesting themselves in a scheme for the establishment of the first national park in Great Britain, among the mountain ranges of North Wales.

There is a proposal to acquire the whole of "Snowdonia" for this purpose, for in this area there exists a considerable amount of common land.

It is believed that the scenic attractions of the district are so great that any scheme having for its object the conservation of the whole range between the foothills of Caernarvonshire and Bettys-y-Coed would meet with widespread approval. It is believed that such a project should not be an expensive matter, seeing that no valuable sporting rights would be extinguished or interfered with.

Steps will be taken in the near future to call a convention of all public bodies who would be concerned in such a promotion.

That Body of Yours

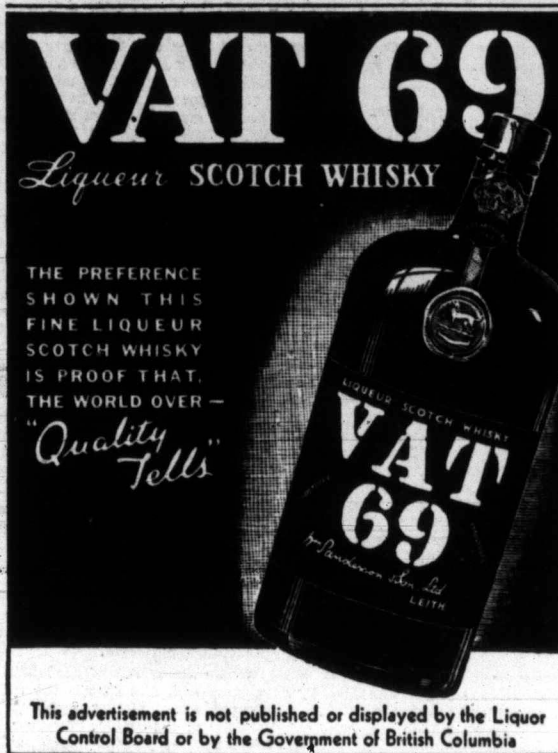

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

INDIVIDUALS MAY BE SENSITIVE TO RHEUMATISM

It has been definitely proved that infected teeth and tonsils cause rheumatism, and yet there are individuals with badly infected teeth or tonsils who have no sign of rheumatism whatever. This would tend to prove that some individuals can resist rheumatism despite infected teeth or tonsils.

Now this is not so strange after all. It is known that some individuals may be exposed to the causes of hay fever or asthma—pollen from plants, certain chemicals, hair or fur of animals, foods and other causes—nevertheless only about 15 or 20 per cent of the entire population is affected with these ailments. The same holds true for cancer.

YOU WILL ENJOY THE RICH BEEF GOODNESS IN BOVRIL IT SATISFIES

Cancer is due to irritation, but though we all may be exposed to irritation, only a certain number contract or develop cancer from the irritation.

When individuals are susceptible to sensitive to certain foods or other substances it is called allergy, and these individuals are said to be "allergic."

Thus we find that a number of research physicians now believe that rheumatism is an allergic disease; that is, some individuals are sensitive or susceptible to it and others are not.

Other European physicians state that the body becomes sensitive or is sensitized by certain substances from within and without the body. Then chilling or dampness, which do not affect those who are not sensitized, produce in those that are sensitized various symptoms or ailments such as eczema, bronchial asthma and rheumatism. Sometimes the condition doesn't get located in the skin, bronchial tubes or other parts, but becomes a general condition like rheumatic fever. Later, symptoms occur in the special organs or tissues—muscles, heart, blood vessels, joints, nerves, skin and throat. As you know rheumatism is about the oldest disease known to mankind. It is common in damp climates. Great Britain being an outstanding example.

To avoid rheumatism we must prevent or remove all infections, but down on starches, fats, and we can't live in a dry climate, try to live in dry homes.

a loss estimated to be between $450,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

The cause of colds, many scientists now believe, is a filtrable virus, invisible but potent. It lodges in the mouth and throat, which also welcome millions of the equally dangerous "secondary invaders"—the pneumonia, streptococcus and influenza germs. These often complicate a cold, make it dangerous.

Gargle Listerine

Recognizing the throat as the breeding ground of bacteria, it is evident that the daily use of an antiseptic is of vital importance. Many authorities declare it a valuable precaution against disease.

Over a period of more than 50 years, the antiseptic found best suited to this purpose is Listerine. Its results are a matter of record. Listerine is fatal to germs, including those associated with colds. Yet it does not irritate delicate tissue as do many mouth washes, needlessly harsh.

For oral cleanliness and to fight colds—gargle with Listerine every morning and night. If you feel a cold coming on or one has already started, repeat the gargle every two hours. You will be delighted to find how often it brings relief.

The moment Listerine enters the mouth it begins to kill germs. Even four hours after its use, reductions in the number of germs ranging up to 64% have been noted.

We will send free and postpaid a scientific treatise on the germicidal action of Listerine; also, a Booklet on Listerine uses. Write Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, Dept. CN-2, Toronto, Ont.

SOCIAL CHANGE UNDER REVIEW

Professor A. W. Topping
Lectures to University Extension Association

"Social changes take place in the Spring—like the ice going out of the rivers as in passing from the stage of stagnation to one of movement and it remains for us to determine whether that change shall be evolutionary, or revolutionary, orderly or disorderly," said Dr. C. W. Topping, professor of sociology in the University of British Columbia.

bia, in a lecture before members of the University Extension Association at Victoria College last night.

Dr. Topping's subject was "The How and Why of Social Changes," and students of sociology and economics will readily admit the subject embraces a wide field which could be divided into divisions, subdivisions, sections and sub-sections, any one of the sections sufficient to provide a full evening's address.

CULTURAL BASE
Professor Topping did not endeavor to inject his own opinions into the very complex subject, but appeared content to give an analysis of some of the well-known and well-studied theories of Herbert Spencer, as well as an explanation of the trends toward social changes and particularly those changes supported by the cultural determinist—determination being a doctrine that the will is not free, but is inevitably and inevitably determined by physical and physical conditions.

The cultural determinist, said the professor, maintains that the social changes or the progression of a race are brought about by the cultural base and not by genius and by the size of that base. Man, biologically, is the same as he was thousands of years ago. Inventions in 1840 numbered only 473 and in 1920 had increased to over 40,000. The growth or progression has been in the machine and not in the brains of man.

THE MAIN FACTORS
Dr. Topping mentioned the two main factors in how change takes place—borrowing and invention. "Japan has borrowed the British navy, the German army and the American business man, but the Japanese cannot fly because they cannot integrate the flying culture into their civilization. Civilization tends to borrowing rather than invention because it is much easier," said the professor.

Presenting the other side of the picture, Dr. Topping mentioned the cultural lags and was referring to institutions. Institutions tend to fossilize and get in the way of orderly change. He said he might term them the "survivors" performing a continual round of miserable, petty tasks. When in that state they become a menace to society. "Are you sure that the economic system of today is performing its job? I might ask is it the function of a church to support only a priest-hood, or is it there for something else?"

BUSINESS IN ADVANCE
Business, he said, had moved forward quicker than its ethics. There has been physical and material development, and the production side of the economic system is alright, but the distribution is not. Dr. Topping said he was inclined to the belief there should be a speeding up of production.

Regarding the wage question, Dr. Topping said, the time had not yet arrived when the business man had become kind-hearted enough to allow wages to advance quicker than his profits.

CHIEF THEORIES
In the early part of his address, Dr. Topping itemized the four chief theories of social change as: the theory there has been no change, instantiating the Eskimo period; that the universe is self-changing and will do the changing itself if let alone; the theory of the great man and great family period, and the cultural base theory.

Dr. Topping was introduced by Dr. W. A. Carrothers, who was chairman for the evening. In his opening remarks, he referred to Dr. Topping as one of the newer school of sociologists. Following his address, the professor answered a number of questions dealing with the lecture subject.

ONE CONVICT KILLED BEFORE BREAK ENDED

the door between the dormitory and the reception-room. They crashed through this door and entered the room, where only a single door blocked their way outside.

As they stepped across the reception-room floor an office official blocked their path, but he was swept aside with a few punches. The same treatment being meted out to another official, named Siddall, who also tried to stop the prisoners. Siddall called for assistance, and before the four prisoners could reach the main door, guards appeared and the battle started.

Sergeant Moran is said to have pulled his gun as he was backed into a corner.

"Fire and to hell with you," one of the prisoners was quoted as saying. "You've only got blank cartridges, anyway."

IS SHOT IN CHEST
The desperate quartette rushed the sergeant, and Ertel fell dead, a bullet in his chest.

Although their companion lay dying, the other prisoners were said to have rushed Moran. Campbell and Jamieson jumped into the fray, which developed into a free-for-all slugging match, with the inmates clawing, kicking and biting, and swinging chair legs. One guard suffered a torn neck from a chair leg smash, and only the quick arrival of a doctor prevented him from bleeding to death, it was learned.

Reformatory guards succeeded in subduing the prisoners, two of whom bled freely from injuries. The three men were rushed to their cells, one of them having to be carried because of a smashed head.

The northeastern district were markedly successful during the past season, and indications are for still greater progress and production of gold from this character of mining in the coming season.

NEW PLACER FINDS
During the season, important new placer discoveries in the Cariboo were made on Cottonwood and Upper Horsefly rivers, Cedar Creek, and near Quesson on Fraser River.

Throughout the districts there were evidences that intelligent development was meeting with success. "The only real way to develop a mine is to do some digging," Mr. Freeland said, and his report indicated that much digging is being done.

WIDESPREAD ACTIVITY
Nelson, Sheep Creek and Ymir sections were the subject of a report by B. T. O'Grady, resident engineer for the Eastern district, which, although it embraces only some 30,000 square miles, is the scene of widespread activity in gold mining.

Flags Flown From Office Buildings On Marriage Day

IN honor of the marriage of H.R.H. the Duke of Kent, yesterday, Federal and Provincial buildings in the province were decked with flags. Many private buildings were similarly dressed, while ferry boats in the Gulf service arrived outlined with signal hoists. At the Legislative Buildings, two large flags floated out from the shoulders of the main buildings, while from second-floor windows there was a row of Union Jacks. High above all, a weather-beaten Union Jack floated out from the flagstaff in the grounds, said to be one of the tallest in the Empire. The buildings were illuminated at night.

Except for the Slovan section, where a brave effort is being made in the face of low prices for silver, lead and zinc, the district under Mr. O'Grady's observation is thriving from gold mining. All of the properties under development, several of which are producing satisfactorily, are those which were developed considerably prior to the Great War, when mining gradually waned and finally came to a standstill until recently. A score of these properties, large and small, were detailed by Mr. O'Grady, who predicted that, within a few years, the district would be producing approximately 100,000 ounces of gold annually.

CANADIAN TRADE ENVOY WILL NOT VISIT CITY

Paul Sykes, Canadian trade commissioner at Tientsin, China, for some years, will not visit Victoria tomorrow, as scheduled, according to advices received here yesterday. It had been Mr. Sykes' intention to confer with local manufacturers, exporters and importers before leaving on his return trip to the Orient, after an extended holiday in Canada. However, he has just been transferred to Hamburg, and will leave Vancouver tomorrow, en route to his new post in Germany. C. S. Bissett, formerly trade commissioner at Lima, Peru, has been appointed to Tientsin, and will sail on board the Ss. Empress of Japan tomorrow. His only opportunity to interview Victoria firms will be during the stay of the Empress. Outer Wharf in the afternoon. RATEPAYERS' BODY TO SPONSOR CANDIDATES

Saanich Ward Three Ratepayers' Association will sponsor a candidate for municipal council in the January elections, it was decided at a special meeting of that organization, last night, in the Children's Aid Hall, Hobbs' Road.

A nomination day will be held next month at which a candidate will be selected. No date was set for the session. It was pointed out that it is probable the association will nominate candidates for school board and police commission. It is not thought a candidate for the reevehip will be proposed.

A petition will be forwarded to the council asking that Marine Drive be widened from Hobbs' Road to the Uplands.

WILL SPEAK ON CHILD WELFARE

Pictures of Loyal Protestant Home for Children Will Be Shown in City Tonight

To tell of the humanitarian work being done in the Loyal Protestant Home for Children, and to show motion pictures of the New Westminster institution and its seventy-odd inmates, S. C. Knowles, secretary of the home, will arrive in Victoria today.

With the object of raising funds to carry on the work and gain greater support for the home, Mr. Knowles will give a special showing of the pictures to a public gathering tonight, at 8 o'clock, in the Burns Hall, 1466 Douglas Street. A musical programme will also be given.

The Loyal Protestant Home was built in 1928, through funds gathered by the Loyal Orange Association, Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association and the Loyal True Blue Association.

Twenty-one years ago, Mrs. William Hardy, who at that time was grand mistress of the Loyal True Blue Association, secured a small home in New Westminster, and two little children were taken in and cared for. As a result of this initial effort, the work of caring for orphans, fatherless or motherless kiddies, has gradually grown into the far-extending programme of today.

Plane Takes Injured Man To Hospital

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29 (CP).—Injured Monday by a premature explosion of dynamite, John Kaczka, a gold-miner, was in hospital here tonight, after a flight from the Northern Manitoba mining area. Held to the ground by bad weather for two days, Roy Brown, chief pilot of Wings Limited, took off from Lac Du Bonnet, seventy-five miles north of here, Wednesday, and brought the miner to Winnipeg. Kaczka had his right arm blown off in the explosion.

NEW CIGARETTE IS NOW ASHLESS

Chemists in Paris Discover New Paper That Will Not Flake When Burning

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—Here is news of interest to smokers. Chemists in Paris have discovered an "ashless" cigarette paper which eliminates the messy flakiness of burning cigarettes.

Chemists in the cigarette industry everywhere have been doing extensive research work in the attempt to produce such a paper, and at last they have succeeded. The discovery marks another great stride in the cigarette-making industry, stated A. W. Bishop, foreign representative of a Parisian tobacco company, who arrived recently in Montreal.

Mr. Bishop explained that it is not so much the ash from the tobacco which gets on the clothes, as it is that of the paper, which flakes and falls off. The new paper looks the same and has much the same qualities as the old, he remarked, but it lasts longer and does not flake.

Speaking about cigarette smoking in other countries, Mr. Bishop stated that styles of "rolling your own" differ in the various countries. For example, the majority of Canadians prefer to roll their home-made cigarettes fairly thick, but in India, they make a long, thin cigarette using a minimum of tobacco.

"And now," said the teacher, "will anyone give me an example of an indirect tax, please?"

"The dog tax," announced a pupil. "Why do you term that an indirect tax?"

"Because the dog doesn't pay it."

NEW PRELATE AT BIG RECEPTION

Hundreds Extend Greetings to Rt. Rev. J. H. MacDonald at Empress Function

A reception at the Empress Hotel, attended by hundreds of Catholic laity from Victoria and other parts of the Island, concluded the programme of numerous engagements filled by Rt. Rev. John Hugh MacDonald, newly-installed Bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria, yesterday, the first day of his regime as head of his new charge here. Here again, in less formal manner than on the previous evening, he received expressions of loyalty and devotion, coupled with every good wish for the success of his work in this western part of Canada, to which he had been sent by the Holy See.

C. H. O'Halloran, president, and on the platform with Bishop MacDonald were the following visiting prelates, all of whom spoke in the course of the evening: Most Rev. William M. Duke, D.D., Archbishop of Vancouver; Most Rev. J. O'Leary, D.D., Archbishop of Edmonton; Most Rev. E. Bunoos, O.M.I., D.D., Vicar Apostolic of Prince Rupert and the Yukon; Most Rev. P. J. Monahan, D.D., Bishop of Calgary;

Most Rev. L. J. A. Melanson, D.D., Bishop of Gravelbourg, Sask. The Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, was also on the platform, and at the very commencement of the proceedings read an address tendering from the Catholic people of Victoria loyal and sincere greetings, and a welcome to the Bishop in this, his first diocese.

"GOODLY HERITAGE"
"Through a long line of devoted prelates, whose successors you now are, we have been shepherded wisely and well, and yours is a goodly heritage," the address said. "All that is due of reverence and respect to the Pope, it will be our pleasure to give. We offer our filial obedience and whole-hearted co-operation. Our welcome is the more intimate and the more loving because you come to us from the same great Catholic province, and bearing the same honored name of one most beloved of her sons and of our noble line of bishops."

"May our loyalty and devotion, the legacy of love bequeathed to you by your immediate predecessor, ever comfort you, and be to you the support which, in the fullest measure, we wish to render our new Bishop of Victoria."

BISHOP'S REPLY
Bishop MacDonald, who had stood throughout the reading of this address, which was subsequently presented to him, in his response and thanks again referred to the regret with which he had left his old parish in Nova Scotia, adding that the warmth of his reception here and elsewhere across Canada had

Toxin Claimed Successful

Positive immunization of children against infantile paralysis has at last been accomplished, according to the announcement of Dr. William H. Park, director of the United States Department of Health's research laboratory at New York. Success came after years of experiment that included tests made on monkeys. Only one child now dies where 150 died forty years ago. Dr. Park is shown vaccinating a child against the dread affliction, with serum obtained from infected monkeys.

helped to compensate for the severing of the ties.

"This is my first diocese. I hope it is going to be my last, or in other words, my only diocese," he said, apparently anticipating the frequent references subsequently made to the numerous changes in bishops experienced by Victoria during the past few years.

He very sincerely thanked all who had participated in the loyal and affectionate sentiments expressed. It had given him much consolation and encouragement. He said he would have time in the next twenty-five or thirty years he hoped to spend here, to express his appreciation in much more practical form. Again, too, he appealed for the prayers and co-operation of his people. With these his task would be made much easier.

OTHER BISHOPS

Reference was made to some of the bishops who had had charge of this diocese. With such men as Bishop Alexander MacDonald, Archbishop O'Donnell and Bishop Gerald Murray as predecessors, all of whom were highly respected, it was no wonder that the new bishop should have felt that he knew they had had good instruction.

Tribute was paid, too, to the band of priests who carry on the work in the different parishes throughout the diocese; and to these earlier pioneer priests and sisters who had so well laid the foundations of Christian teaching. The best expression of the people's gratitude would be in the carrying on of the work they had started. Although he did not yet profess to know the history of this diocese, he had heard enough to convince him of the heroic service given by these pioneers.

CIVIC AFFAIRS

"I want my people to take an intelligent part in civic affairs. This applies not merely to the men, but to a great many of the women as well. The day has come when women have to take part in political affairs as well as the men; they have to go to the polls to vote just as much as the men do. We cannot expect to discharge our duties along these lines unless we keep ourselves educated on the questions of the hour. We must study these problems, discuss them among ourselves, use every possible effort to get an intelligent view about these matters so that we can discharge our duties as citizens in the most enlightened manner," said the bishop, who specifically mentioned schools.

More important than support in the matter of material resources—although that, too, would be needed, and sometimes to a considerable extent—was the co-operation of priests and people and their prayers for the success of God's work, and the spreading of His teaching. All Catholics should live and act in such a way that they would be an example to all others.

ARCHBISHOP SPEAKS

Archbishop Duke expressed appreciation of the manner in which the Catholic people of Victoria had carried through the installation ceremony. Some said that it showed the results of experience. It was evident that Victoria was valued as a place where bishops could be prepared for other work, judging by the quick transfers which had taken place from here in recent years. A strong bishop in the diocese of Victoria fortified the hands of the archbishop, who, with the Bishop of Prince Rupert and Bishop of Victoria, had to grapple with problems peculiar to the province of British Columbia. He felt certain that Bishop MacDonald would do a great deal to weld Catholic action in this part of the world.

Archbishop O'Leary also brought greetings in a very happily-worded address, in which he extended sincere congratulations and good wishes to the diocese of Victoria. Bishop Bunoos, of Prince Rupert, recalled the long term he had served in the province. As priest and bishop he had known about eight of Victoria's bishops during the reign of four Popes. The distribution through Canada of so many former bishops who had served here should act as a splendid advertisement to this city. Bishop Monahan, of Calgary, and Bishop Melanson, of Gravelbourg, Sask., supplemented these greetings with messages in similar vein.

Addressing the formal programme, Bishop MacDonald descended from the platform and the audience came forward in procession to receive his blessings.

Settlement Loan Liquidated With Loss for Board

ANOTHER Land Settlement Board deal was ordered liquidated, yesterday, at a loss of $985. In 1917, the British Columbia board loaned $1,000 on 160 acres of land near Golden. Charges and costs accumulated until $1,705 was outstanding. The property was recently advertised for sale, and $750 was offered. The Government yesterday instructed the board to write off the loss, granting authority for sale of the land for $75 down, and balance over ten years at 6 per cent.

gramme was very much enjoyed. Mme. Griffiths, skillfully accompanied by the piano by Mrs. C. C. Wain, giving charming interpretation of "Gloria" and "The Icicle" and Miss Rosette Lee, talented young Victoria violinist, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Chapman, giving a pleasing performance of "Liebestraum" and "Hajre Kayte" (Wienawski).

BUSY DAY

In the bishop's busy first day in his new diocese was a celebration of Mass at St. Ann's Convent chapel in the morning; this being his first Mass in Victoria; a luncheon at St. Joseph's Hospital, when all the visiting bishops and clergy were the guests of the sisters, Father E. Sobry, on behalf of the sisters, extending greetings in a neat speech; and a reception and programme of addresses and music at St. Ann's Academy. About 400 students and sisters were present at the last, the girls' address of welcome to the new bishop being read by Frances Ebbs-Canavan. Bishop MacDonald, in his kindly response, recalled the 2,000 children whom he had left behind in his former parish at Sydney, most of whom he knew by name. He hoped soon to know the children of this diocese as well.

Archbishop Duke, Archbishop O'Leary and Bishops Monahan, Bunoos and Melanson also spoke a few words on the same occasion. Later in the afternoon Bishop MacDonald visited the Poor Clare's Convent, the Willows.

A Great Plum Pudding Without Usual Penalties

Here is a recipe that is both delicious and digestible.

Since Elizabethan days plum pudding has been the butt of punsters and a target for jokesmiths. "Deadly delight" one Elizabethan writer called it. Another called it "a builder of fantastic and direful dreams."

And all of us have continued to crack our "deadly" jokes over soggy Christmas pudding; physicians, dentists and the thoughtful and conscientious of every class—and then we have eaten it and smacked our lips over it—and probably asked for more.

But there is a way to make a plum pudding that will be entirely digestible, and even more delicious than when made in the pasty, soggy, conventional way. That way is to make it with Roman Meal entirely, using no pasty flour nor bread crumbs at all. Such a pudding will be a treat and be neither "deadly" nor cause "direful dreams."

Such a pudding will have not a suggestion of soggy. It will be instead granular and almost crumbly, and thus open and porous to the digestive fluids, so that these will pour through the food mass freely as water will through gravel. The whole mass thus digests promptly and all at one time, thus avoiding fermentation from non-digestion of the starch, which cannot be avoided when the pudding is soggy and gummy, as must be the case when made of pasty flour.

Here is a recipe for a Christmas or Plum Pudding, which, if you will use to make your Christmas Pudding this year, will ensure that hereafter you will never use any other, especially any other flour:

CHRISTMAS PUDDING

½ lb. raisins
½ lb. currants
½ lb. dates
½ lb. almonds
½ lb. peel
1 lb. brown sugar
4 eggs
1 cup grated raw potato
¾ lb. chopped suet
1 cup grated raw carrot
4 cups Roman Meal
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ grated nutmeg

Put fruit, nuts, carrot and potato in basin, dredge well with one cup Roman Meal. Mix chopped suet with three cups Roman Meal, and add to fruit, etc. Cream sugar and eggs together and add this to mixture. Butter pudding bowl and pack to within one inch of top. Cover with waxed paper and tie cloth over bowl. Put in hot steamer and steam for about four hours.

This recipe does not require baking powder or baking soda, although a little of either may be added if desired.

Keep in mind when considering the above recipe that the conventional plum pudding is very constipating as well as indigestible. By making your pudding of Roman Meal it will not only be delicious and digestible, but a natural laxative which will aid you in eliminating from the food or life canal the results of the other food excesses usually indulged in at Christmas time. This will automatically act as at least a partial preventative of the after-Christmas sick spells, colds, flu, etc., almost universally present at that season, due to excessive eating, overloaded intestines, etc.

If you have been a Roman Meal user you already know its health-building properties and will be ready at once to try this new way of using it. If you have not used Roman Meal here is a delightful way to begin to use it, and one that will make you an enthusiast—no pleased will you be with its deliciousness and its nutritive and health-building results. You will realize you have never tasted the best in Plum Pudding before, and at the same time you will be building health instead of disease. Most foods used at Christmas Feasting add to the acid residues in the blood, which are the real cause of disease. Roman Meal is the reverse; it adds alkalis, the opposite of acids.

I am now on a twelve-thousand-mile lecture tour at the time of writing, motoring two to three hundred miles a day through British Columbia mountains, lecturing three and a half hours each night... a "dog's life" and I shall carry on for eight months, doing work that few men in the thirties could stand up under. Each night from the lecture platform I defy disease to attack me, and I shall do so each night for eight months. I shall be in hot southern U.S. climates, then travel north into cold New England, Quebec and Ontario, wearing no overcoat, vest nor underwear. I shall never have a cold, an ache or pain, and I shall never miss a single lecture—no, not one. Yet in spite of all this tremendous strain I shall come through unscathed, and long before it is over I shall be 77 years young. Roman Meal has been my greatest aid in building my marvellous 76 years young body and resistance. It can do as much for you, and Plum Pudding is one of the most delightful ways in which to use it.

And the Christmas Pudding Season brings us close to the New Year. Start it off by a more sensible, more healthful diet. If you will write me I will gladly send you my booklet, "How to Keep Well," and list of alkali-forming foods. Address Robt. C. Jackson, M.D., 576 Vine Avenue, Toronto.

JOE E. BROWN IS DOMINION STAR

"Six-Day Bike Ride" Is Humorous Story of Racing—Frank McHugh in Cast

Joe E. Brown is the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre today.

This time he appears as a "Six-Day Bike Rider" in the first National picture of that title. As a bicycle rider Joe is a regular "fend," but he wins the race and his girl by the most novel and hilarious fluke imaginable.

Joe starts out as a village cut-up who goes to the big city to show his girl, who has jilted him, and the rest of the neighbors, what a great man he is. After getting into a terrific battle, landing in jail and being bailed out, he makes a mad rush for the races which have already started.

The race is the big climax to one of the most uproarious comedies in which the wide-mouthed comedian has yet appeared. It is not only filled with riotous situations, but is crammed with breath-taking thrills. An exceptionally talented cast of players have the important roles in support of Joe. Funnyman Frank McHugh plays the role of Joe's pal and racing teammate while Gordon Westcott is the "city slicker" who tries to steal Joe's girl.

GREAT REVUE ON STAGE AT EMPIRE

Orpheum Vaudeville, With Several All-Star Acts, Opens Engagement Today

With a number of splendid acts the latest Orpheum engagement at the Empire Theatre today and will show again tomorrow. This programme comes to Victoria with the praise of theatrical critics who have seen it in several large cities of the Pacific Northwest.

Three colored boys, who are wizards in the art of tap dancing, will also be presented, as will Harry and Dolly Kellor. This latter team is composed of two athletic and acrobatic dancers.

Dele and Ruth are two pretty misses who will supply an instrumental number to the programme. They are particularly clever with the banjo and have made many radio appearances during recent months.

RUGGLES AND BOLAND TOGETHER IN STORY

Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland, who last played together in Paramount's "Melody in Spring," are cast in featured roles in Paramount's "The Pursuit of Happiness." Adapted from the recent Broadway bundling success, the film stars Francis Lederer, features Joan Bennett and Barbara Barondess, and comes Tuesday to the Dominion Theatre.

Further Warning On Tax Penalty Given Citizens

CIVIC officials again warned property holders, yesterday that the final 5 per cent penalty on delinquent tax accounts would be imposed on December 4. All those in arrears are urged to make payment before next Tuesday and avoid the final impost. So far, three penalties of 1 per cent each have been made effective. The 5 per cent impost on December 4 will bring the total to 8 per cent.

LAUNCHES ACTION AGAINST POLICE

Vancouver Chiropractor Demands Removal of Photographs and Fingerprints From Records

VANCOUVER, Nov. 29 (CP).—Dr. Walter Sturdy, Vancouver chiropractor and leader in the long fight for the practice of his profession, today launched action to have police photographs and fingerprints, which he claims were taken and filed without legal right, removed from the files and destroyed.

The case is believed to be the first of its kind in British Columbia. Twelve years ago, when the practice of chiropractic was an offense under Provincial law under the Medical Act, Dr. Sturdy was convicted of practicing medicine illegally. He was then photographed and his fingerprints taken and filed.

He claims such records may be taken legally only under the Federal Identification of Criminals Act, which applies only to a person charged with, or convicted of, an indictable offense. He holds that this act does not apply to any offense under Provincial statutes.

Legal notice served on the Mayor and city clerk and Chief Constable John Cameron today demands destruction of the records within twenty days, and states that if this is not complied with court action will follow, including claim for damages.

SELL NAPOLEON LOVE MISSIVES

Collection of Letters to Marie-Louise of Austria Are Offered

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Another collection of Napoleon's love letters, to Archduchess Marie Louise of Austria, whom he married in 1810 after divorcing Josephine, are to be sold here, in December. The name of the owner of this collection is not disclosed.

The number of letters greatly exceeds those written to Josephine, which were sold out of the late Lord Rosebery's library a year ago. Ardent as the Marie Louise letters are, they lack the first fine rapture of his earlier love affair.

PLEADS HIS CAUSE

The series of epistles to Marie Louise cover a period of four years, 1810-1814, giving a picture of Napoleon pleading with the young Austrian princess—even before he had met her, and afterwards of their married life down to the time of his first imprisonment at Elba. He begins by declaring his impatience to meet her, his longing to "throw himself at her feet" and to devote his life to making her happy.

During Napoleon's campaigns he writes to her day after day, urging her to be cheerful, and to be assured of his unchanging love. "You know how much I love you," he writes, "and how I long to hear that you are well and happy," ending with "good-bye, my love, and a thousand kisses." After the birth of their son, the King of Rome, he invariably adds: "Give a kiss for me to the little king."

IN FAR-OFF RUSSIA

Throughout the Russian campaign he describes the leading events, but never, even in the dark days of the French retreat, did he cease to urge her to be cheerful, his only worry being lest her letters to him might be intercepted by the enemy.

At the fall of Paris, he begs her to be "brave and strong, as he is, for the sake of their son," and assures her that he "feels his misfortunes far more for her sake than for his own." The last letter of the series was sent from Elba. "The island is lovely, but you are so far away," he writes, "and I long to see you and my son."

THE OLD-FASHIONED FARMER WAS HARD TO CONVINCE

"No," declared he. "I'll have no such contraption in my house. Pianinos are bad things."

"Oh, but father," protested his daughter, "this is an upright piano."

MAROONS AND AMERICAN SCORE HOCKEY WINS

Bremerton Cagers to Face Hoyle-Brown in Exhibition Fixture

Undeclared Men's "B" Hoopsters Will Battle U.S. Squad at High School Gymnasium This Evening—Two Other Games Carded

Undeclared in local competition this season, the smooth functioning Hoyle-Brown cage team, leaders of the men's senior "B" division of the Victoria and District Basketball League, will be seen in action this evening at the Victoria High School gymnasium, against the visiting Charleston Club, of Bremerton, Washington, in an exhibition fixture.

In addition to the inter-city game, two league matches will be played. At 7:30 o'clock, the league-leading Pantorium women's "B" quintette will meet the Maroons, while at 8:30, New Method Laundry and Lake Hill men's "B" squads will clash, with the Hoyle-Brown-Charleston Club fixture as the final game.

The United States squad is reported to be carrying plenty of good material and should provide stiff opposition for the undeclared Hoyle-Brown aggregation. The Charleston Club has won eight of its sixteen fixtures played this season.

On their starting line-up the visitors are expected to use Ernie Hauschel, big six-footer, at centre, and Joe Dick and Ted Miller, as forwards. Miller is the tallest man on the team, standing six feet two inches. Wynn Mason, captain, and J. Snyder will open at guards. J. Bancho and "Buddy" Rudolph, utility men, will be in uniform and ready to jump into the fray at a moment's notice.

Manager Frank Shandley, of the Hoyle-Brown cagers, is expected to start Dean Tubman, lanky tip-off ace, at centre, with Jack Caddell and Ollie Goldsmith, as forwards. Bill Levy and "Chuck" Preston will hold down the guard positions. George Robertson, Gordon Patterson and Bruce Macmurchie are the other players who will be in uniform and will see plenty of action during the evening.

With five victories to their credit, Hoyle-Brown will be out to add a win over the visiting Charleston Club.

"Sonny" Buxton Scores Another Fight Victory

TACOMA, Nov. 29 (AP).—"Sonny" Buxton, 175, Victoria, scored a decision over Earl Wise, 180, Reno, Nev., in a six-round bout here, tonight. Wise was on the floor for a count of eight in the second round from a right to the chin. Cecil Payne, 140, Louisville, Ky., and Jimmy McLeod, 135½, Tacoma, went six fast rounds to a draw in the main event.

Grid Champions Given Reception By Large Crowd

SARNIA, Ont., Nov. 29 (CP).—Sarnia tonight honored its Dominion football champions with a celebration that threatened to extend into the early hours of the morning, as between 10,000 and 15,000 supporters of Imperial paraded the streets. Although Imperials defeated Regina Roughriders for Dominion honors, the joy tonight was mostly confined to the triumph over Hamilton Tigers in the Eastern Canadian final. The Rugby enthusiasts burned the Tiger in effigy at the athletic park, and a motor parade two miles long was staged.

MONTREALERS BEAT RED WINGS; AMERKS BLANK CHICAGO, 2-0

Two Goals in Middle Session Gives Tommy Gorman's Team 2-1 Victory Over Detroit—New York Club Surprises With Win Over Black Hawks—Schriner Nets Both Goals

MONTREAL, Nov. 29 (CP).—Two goals in the middle period provided enough to give Montreal Maroons a 2-1 victory over Detroit Red Wings in a National Hockey League game, before 6,500 fans here, tonight.

Maroons' tight end their hold on second berth in the Canadian Section standing through their victory, while Wings were still trailing Boston by a couple of points in the American Section.

In the second period Stew Evans, Maroons' defenseman, went up on a lone rush and backhanded a shot into the cage behind Norm Smith. Eight seconds later Jimmy Ward slammed a hot one at Smith on a double passing play with Northcott and Haynes.

In the third period a minor penalty to big Allan Shields, for charging little Conney Weiland, aided the Wings. Eddie Goodfellow took a sitting shot from twenty feet and the puck dropped between Connell and the goalpost.

Line-ups follow:

Position	Montreal	Detroit
Goal	Connell	Smith
Defense	Evans, Weiland	Wentworth, Goodfellow
Centre	Haynes	Ward
Wing	Ward	Wentworth

Summary: First Period—No score. Penalty: None. Second Period—1, Maroons, Evans, 2:02; 2, Maroons, Ward (Northcott-Haynes), 2:10. AMERKS BEAT HAWKS
NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP).—The sharpshooting of Dave "Sweeney" Schriner, rookie left-winger, advanced New York Americans another step in the National Hockey League ratings, tonight, as they produced a 2-0 victory over Chicago Black Hawks.

Both goals came in the third period, one soon after the start, when Schriner, former Calgary amateur, eluded the defence at the corner of the cage and bounced a shot off goalie Lorne Chabot's shoulder; the other in the final minute, when he trapped the Hawks with five men down the ice and out-traced them.

Line-ups follow:

Position	Chicago	New York
Goal	Chabot	Connelley
Defense	Coulter, Murray	McDonald, Ward
Centre	Cook	Schriner
Wing	Kendall	Wentworth

MARATHON IS CAPTURED BY BOB RANKINE

Canadian Retains Honors by Winning Annual Berwick Race—Kelley Second

Pounding steadily over the rain-soaked hills of Berwick, Ontario, today won the annual Berwick race for the second straight time in forty-eight minutes and three seconds, seven seconds behind the course record.

John A. Kelley, of Arlington, Mass., was second, to cover the nine miles, 305 yards triangular course. Walter Hornby, of Hamilton, Ont., was third, and Wilf McClusky, Toronto, fourth.

For the first time since Cliff Bricker, of Canada, took his second victory in 1927, Rankine was able to repeat his triumph of last year and better his time by eleven seconds.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX J. MORRISON

TAPE FINGERS OR WEAR A GLOVE BEFORE BLISTERS COME

As a young member of our foursome noticed that I was taping some of my fingers. He was undecided about taping some of his. He said:

"I feel that I'm going to have a blister on this finger, but I won't bother taping it around it until it begins to hurt me."

I persuaded him to tape the finger before we started. He did and had no trouble with his hands during the round. Many players, like this one, seem willing to neglect threatened blisters.

Once your fingers become irritated and inflamed, you are through for the day. You are bound to flinch and let your grip loosen in the swing. Prevention is the watchword in such cases.

If your hands are soft, your fingers tender, either tape them or wear a glove.

BIFF GRIFFIN TO FIGHT IN FEATURE BOUT

Cheminus Battler to Show in V.A.C. Card Next Wednesday

Fight fans are promised another first-class fight programme next Wednesday evening, at the Tillamook gymnasium, when the Victoria Athletic Club stages its fifth card of the present winter season. Four previous shows presented by this popular club have been of a high standard, and the boys who are lined up for the coming card should put up good battles.

Biff Griffin, Cheminus lightweight, who has won his last four starts, three of them by the knockout route, is billed to battle Walter Spaven, Victoria Athletic Club fighter, in the main event. Spaven will be out to re-establish himself with the fans, after his last defeat at the hands of Malls, of the Eagles Athletic Club, Seattle, about a month ago, when the Sound City fighter connected with a lucky punch.

Jordan Meets Webster
Charmie Jordan, last year's British Columbia lightweight champion, will meet Alec Webster, clever Canadian Scottish boxer, in what should be an interesting mix. Both boys are clean punchers and mix freely from the first gone. Dick Atwood, 128-pound V.A.C. battler, is matched with Tiger Jack, of Cheminus. Atwood lost a close decision to Harry Williams, Seattle, in his last fight.

Walt Davis, 162 pounds, Cheminus, will return to the local ring to meet Doug Ball, Rocky Point glove-thrower. Davis is a favorite with local fans because of his willingness to fight all the way. Ball, while not so experienced in the boxing game as his opponent, is always driving in hard and should give the Up-Island fighter plenty of trouble.

Red Carey, former Kelowna boxer, and now with the V.A.C., will swap punches with Sid Thomas, of the Canadian Scottish. Carey won his last fight by a decision over McMinis, chiefly through his aggressive tactics. Thomas is an unknown quantity to local fans, but Dave Lewis, who is the boxing instructor for the Scottish, feels quite confident that Thomas will give a good account of himself. The boys will fight at 150 pounds.

Doug Smith and "Shorty" Patterson will meet in the welterweight division.

"Kid" Kernachan, clever Cheminus youngster, in the seventy-eight-pound class, is expected to appear on the card against Ken Burns, Y.M.C.A. flash, in the same division.

Other boxers on the programme will be Bonner, Y.M.C.A.; Doug Day, 5th Regiment; Bob Parker, Canadian Scottish; Ed McKim and Haslam, V.A.C., and a boy from Cheminus.

Thanksgiving Day Matches Settle Championship—Alabama Wins

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP).—Alabama's Crimson Tide, the Panthers of Pittsburgh and Colgate's Red Raiders—each hoping for an invitation to play Stanford in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena on New Year's Day—brought their regular seasons to a victorious close today as Kansas State captured the Big Six crown, Washington and Lee romped off with the Southern Conference title, and Utah threw a monkey-wrench into the Rocky Mountain championship situation.

Alabama became an apparent underdog when the tide rolled over Vanderbilt's Commodores, 34-0, to wind up its campaign undefeated and untied and with at least a share in the Southeastern Conference championship.

Pitt, beaten only by Minnesota's powerhouse, remained in the running for the Pasadena classic by overpowering its home-town rival, Carnegie Tech, 2-0. Colgate, whose only setback came at the hands of Ohio State, pushed over a touchdown in the final quarter to win from Brown, 20-13.

J.B.A.A. Shuttle Club Will Hold Dance Tomorrow

J.B.A.A. Badminton Club will stage its first dance of the season tomorrow night, at the Gorge clubhouse, commencing at 9 o'clock. A first-class orchestra has been engaged for the evening, and refreshments will be served. Arrangements have been completed under the direction of Harry Ward, chairman of the badminton committee, and a large attendance of members and their friends is expected. Tickets can be secured from any of the members of the badminton club or from Secretary A. J. Fouracre.

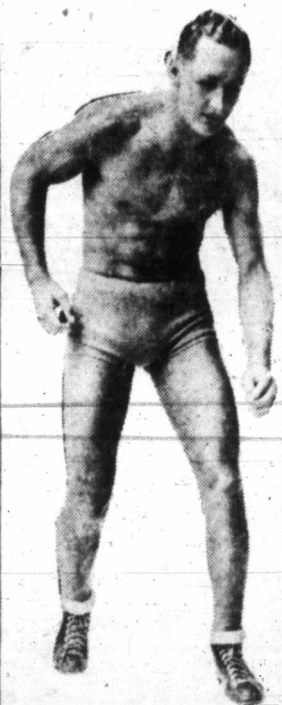

TRIMS NEBRASKA

Kansas State flashed unstoppable power in the last period to whip Nebraska, 19-7, and dethrone the Cornhuskers as Big Six titleholders. Washington and Lee's Generals, meanwhile, overcame South Carolina, 14-7, to snare the Southern Conference crown, which South Carolina and Duke jointly wore last year.

Utah's surprising 14-7 conquest of Utah Aggies, coupled with Colorado University's 7-0 triumph over Denver, left Colorado University, Colorado Teachers, and Colorado Aggies in a triple tie for the Rocky Mountain Conference championship.

The Longhorns of Texas, upsetting Texas A. and M., 13-0, retained their chance of winning the Southwest Conference title should Rice be beaten by Baylor on Saturday.

To Meet McDonald in Return Bout

BOB WAGNER

NEW Hampshire wrestler, who will meet Danny McDonald, Toronto, and Canada's hope for the middleweight championship of the world, in a return bout at the Tillamook Gymnasium, tomorrow evening, in the main event on Promoter Fred Richardson's wrestling programme. Des Anderson, popular Seattle grappler, will make his return to the local ring to meet Bob Cummings, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., in the semi-wind-up. Two preliminary bouts will round out the card, which gets under way at 8:30 o'clock.

DETROIT, Nov. 29 (CP).—Chicago Bears won the Western Division title of the United States Football League, by defeating Detroit Lions, here, today, 19-16.

NAVANOD IS RACE WINNER

Jackie Westrope Guides Mount to Great Victory at Bay Meadows

BAY MEADOWS TRACK, Cal., Nov. 29 (AP).—Navanod charged in ahead by a length, in the Thanksgiving Handicap, today, before the biggest crowd of the season, here, 15,000 fans, with Frank Ormont second and Moonbeam third. Time for the mile-and-one-sixteenth race was 1:43.3-5, and the purse was $3,000.

Up on Navanod was Jack Westrope. Mutual payments were: First, $10.80, $6.80 and $4.80; second, $4.60 and $3.60, and third, $3.20. The play on the machines was expected to be close to $150,000, $10,000 ahead of the previous high.

Moonson and Rock X raced head and head to the stretch, where Moonson took a lead, but Navanod came up too fast. Rock X dropped out, as the favorite, Frank Ormont, moved ahead of Moonson.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The "Swell" Gobbler—The turkey gobbler is like the peacock. His real size is greatly exaggerated as he struts around the barnyard. The peacock is all fine feathers and practically no body, but the turkey gobbler has the added advantage of having a large air sac just beneath the skin on his breast. As he "shows off," this air sac is puffed out, and all his feathers are fluffed out, making him look more than twice his real size.

High Flying at Seventy-Six—At the airport of Bekebourne, Kent, England, R. C. Ramsay, who is now over seventy-six years old, continues to be an active air enthusiast, bumping about in the clouds. Ramsay took out his pilot's licence at the age of seventy, and his entire family are licensed pilots. One son was killed recently in a plane crash but the Old Man remained undaunted, saying: "The air is safer than most other forms of travel and my son's death was due to his inexperience."

HOCKEY GOALS TO BE WIDENED

Vancouver Commercial League to Play With Bigger Nets and No Blue Lines

VANCOUVER, Nov. 29 (CP).—Goals, widened a foot, and an ice sheet without blue lines will be tried out by the Vancouver Commercial Hockey League next week.

Commercial teams will play an exhibition game next Sunday, minus the blue lines. The widened goals will be tried out later in the week during a league game.

Customer appeal is the reason given for the proposed changes.

Harry McDonald, secretary of the Commercial League, proposed doing away with the blue lines.

"What the public wants is more action and less whistle blowing in hockey. It can't be done by adding to the present rules. They are already so complicated that half the players don't know what an offside is. Doing away with the blue lines and offside would speed up the game tremendously."

From Allan Fellows, vice-president of the British Columbia Hockey Association, came the suggestion to widen the goals.

IMPORTANT MATCHES PLANNED IN ENGLISH SOCCER

Sunderland XI to Meet Sheffield W. In Crucial Match

First Division Leaders Face Tough Assignment Tomorrow—Arsenal and Stoke City Expected to Advance—Four Ranking Teams Meet in Scottish League Matches

LONDON, Nov. 29 (CP).—The Arsenal and Stoke City, striving hard to overcome Sunderland's half-game lead in the First Division of the English Soccer League, both have home engagements Saturday, while Sunderland is away, so the positions may be reversed by Saturday night. Sunderland travels to Sheffield Wednesday where the result is a toss-up. The Arsenal and Stoke City are at home, respectively, to Wolverhampton Wanderers and Preston North End, and both the home elevens are called to win.

One of the best matches should be that between Manchester City and Grimsby Town, the surprising newcomers from the Second Division. Both teams are now in a deadlock with Aston Villa for fourth place, a game behind the Arsenal and Stoke.

IMPORTANT GAME

A highlight match of the day's card is the clash between Brentford and Manchester United in the Second Division, at Brentford. These two elevens have been rapidly overtaking Bolton Wanderers, section leaders, in the race for promotion, being, respectively, a point and two points back. Bolton meets Norwich City, which may cost the Wanderers their leadership.

Third Division clubs get into action after being out of league engagements through cup ties a week ago. Barrow, a youngster owned by Charlton Athletic, will get his first chance in the league eleven, displacing Owen in the nets.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

GLASGOW, Nov. 29 (CP).—The struggle for leadership in the championship division of the Scottish Football League may be simplified somewhat Saturday as the four ranking teams are drawn against each other.

Rangers and the Academicals meet at Throok Park in what may be one of the best matches of the season. Though the champions enjoy a full game margin over St. Johnstone, Hamilton Academicals have driven up to a third-place tie with Hearts, each only a point back of St. Johnstone.

The other struggle concerns St.

Johnstone and Hearts, on the latter's field. Celtic, still tied with Aberdeen in fourth place, should pick up full points without any difficulty at St. Mirren, but Aberdeen may have some trouble with Queen's Park.

King's Park, still leading the Second Division, entertains East Fife, while St. Bernard's and Third Lanark, deadlocked for second place, will fight it out between themselves on the latter's grounds.

Racing Season Ends at Bowie

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 29 (AP).—More than 17,000 track addicts braved a driving rain for the wind-up of 1934 free state racing here this afternoon. The wagers shored $418,978 through the pari-mutuel windows.

The feature race, the Thanksgiving Handicap, provided the greatest surprise when the Shandon Farm entry—Dust Girl and Evergold—finished one-two, and paid $16.90 on a $2 win ticket, $14.00 to place, and $9.70 to show. Chalmers, a lowly field horse, wound up in third place, paying $9.30.

CAPTURES HANDICAP

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 29 (AP).—Panfern, chestnut filly, owned by "Bootsie" Hernandez, of New Orleans, today won the Thanksgiving Handicap, feature race of the opening day of the winter racing season here. Panfern ran the mile in 1:40.3-5, on a slow track. She paid $8.80 for $2.

LONDON BEATS OLYMPICS, 3-1

Tecumsehs Skate to Fine Win—Bisons, Arrows and Cubs Victorious

DETROIT, Nov. 29 (AP).—London hard-skating Tecumsehs tonight added to their International League lead by beating Detroit Olympics, 3-1, before 7,807 fans, the largest crowd to see an International League game here in two years.

Herbert Stuart, in the Tecumseh nets, played a brilliant game, while John Ross Roach, one-time major league star who, tonight, made his first start of the 1934 season, played a fine game, but was not given much support.

Eddie Ouellette was the London scoring star, bagging one goal in the first and another in the third. The other London score was made by Bennie Ward, assisted by Leroy Goldsworthy. Detroit's lone goal, late in the final period, was scored by Lloyd Gross, with Ossie Osmundson getting an assist.

BISONS TRIUMPH

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 29 (CP).—Buffalo defeated Syracuse, 2-1, in a rousing International Hockey League game here, tonight, which saw the Syracuse fans rush Referee "Moose" Jamieson, state police being called in to protect the official from attack. The fans became unruly over decisions made by Jamieson.

Syracuse drew three of the four penalties called by the referee. The home team was leading, 1-0, with only three minutes to play when Buffalo slammed in two counters. Bud Jarvis gave Cliff Barton the assist which tied up the game, and in the final minutes, Jarvis fed Captain Roter Roth the puck for the winning goal. Seventeen minutes of play in the first period found Syracuse taking the lead that Buffalo snatched away, Jack Markie scoring on Captain Al Huggins' pass.

ARROWS WIN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 29 (AP).—Philadelphia Arrows made it two in a row over New Haven Eagles, following up a previous night's victory with a 3-0 triumph.

Bud Jarvis gave Cliff Barton the assist which tied up the game, and in the final minutes, Jarvis fed Captain Roter Roth the puck for the winning goal. Seventeen minutes of play in the first period found Syracuse taking the lead that Buffalo snatched away, Jack Markie scoring on Captain Al Huggins' pass.

CUBS BEAT REDS

BOSTON, Nov. 29 (CP).—Led by the brilliance of Frank Jerwa, Boston Cubs dropped Providence Reds to a 5-2 defeat in a stiff Canadian-American Hockey League contest here, tonight. Jerwa tallied two Cub goals and had a hand in another. Gene Carrigan, Harriott and Bill Bessler were the other Boston scorers.

Gus Rivers and big Andy Mulligan scored for the Reds. Rivers got an assist on Mulligan's tally.

RACKET LEADER MUST PAY TAX

Surrenders to United States Government After Offering "Contribution" of $100,000

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 29 (AP).—Dutch Schultz, once a New York beer racket leader, surrendered to the United States Government, yesterday, while its agents pushed an intensive search to bring him to trial on an income tax evasion charge.

The neatly-dressed little hoodlum walked into the office of United States Commissioner Lester T. Hubbard, admitted he was Arthur Fleg-enheimer, alias Dutch Schultz, fugitive since last January. Schultz is accused in one instance of side-stepping a payment of $22,366 on an income of $130,234 in 1929.

Hugh McQuillan, chief of the New York Department of Justice office, said attorneys purporting to represent Schultz, had suggested as a compromise a contribution of $100,000 "to a presidential campaign fund" in 1932.

Your Health and Your Weight

MORE THAN CUTTING DOWN ON FOOD OFTEN
NECESSARY TO REDUCE WEIGHT

By JAS. W. BARTON, M.D.

There isn't any question but that overweight individuals all over the world have been cutting down on the amount of food eaten. That they have begun to take more exercise is not known, although the fact that they are not eating so much might encourage them to exercise more.

Notwithstanding the fact that a little less food is being eaten, the actual number of those who are overweight would seem to be about the same.

What does this show?
 The fact that the weight is not coming down to any considerable extent would show that there is something more to it than just cutting down on food.

Research experts on nutrition are now beginning to believe that many cases of overweight are due to both overeating and to the lack of gland substances. Thus when a certain amount of weight has been removed by cutting down on the food and liquid intake, and no further reduction can apparently be made, despite the fact that the individual is many pounds overweight, the use of thyroid extract has given excellent results.

Thyroid extract, as you know, increases the rate at which all the body processes work; the heat of the body may be increased twenty, forty, or more per cent.

To get an idea of what this means you just have to think of your furnace. You leave the draft of the furnace open to bring up the fire, and when the fire is well up, you close the draft. If you leave the draft on the entire fuel on the furnace is consumed. Using thyroid extract in certain cases of overweight acts in the same way; that is, the fat in the body is burned up, thus removing that much weight.

However, the use of thyroid extract is not the simple, safe method of removing weight that you may think. In heating the body, increasing the rate at which the body processes work, it naturally increases the rate at which the heart must pump the blood, thus demanding increased effort on the part of the heart muscle. In addition to this, the digestive processes are hurried and the general nervous system is called on for increased effort.

The heart gets tired, digestive organs tire, the nervous system tires, and exhaustion, or even collapse, may follow.

Notwithstanding the ill effects of thyroid extract in cases where it should not be used, or in cases where it is used in doses that are too large, thyroid extract, if used properly, can be of real help in many cases.

The first thought in all cases of overweight is to cut down on foods and liquids. If this is not sufficiently successful after some weeks, then a metabolism test should be made to see if the body processes are working at a normal rate. If the rate is just normal or below normal, then the thyroid extract.

"Why has the lion such a big head?"
 "So that it cannot get through the bars, of course."—Hummel Hamburg.
